2. The Student

2.4) Please provide any additional comments you would like to convey to the instructor about YOUR performance in this class.

- I currently have 100 % attendance and participation in our class.
- I definitely could have done more adequate due diligence on the readings. Overall I did enjoy learning in this class and put in the effort.

- I made sure to do all the readings and participate as often as possible
- I was really scared going into the class since I'm not that strong in this subject but throughout the course I felt that my knowledge has increased as well as my ability to succeed in an upper level and challenging class like this because of you.
- N/A
- This course allowed to think at a more in depth way. It allowed to constant question other aspects of life along with other courses I've taken at Quinnipiac.

3. The Professor

3.8) Please provide any additional comments you would like to convey about the professor's teaching:

- Extremely knowledgable about the subjects being taught.
- He is by far one of the best professors that I have ever had the honor of having at Quinnipiac. He is so passionate about teaching and is always accessible. He will give countless examples and clarifications, but not in a way that it slows down the course. His syllabus is clear, accessible, and useful. His lectures are interesting and have helped me to grow as a student. I wish more teachers would have taught like Professor Scauso over the past three years of my undergraduate experience. I would gladly take more courses with him if I was not graduating this semester.
- He was too slow with explaining topics for a 300 level course.
- I have had few professors that can engage difficult topics with students the way Professor Scauso has. He always emphasizes key points, challenges us with the material we might not understand but during class, he helps clarify. There has been a great balance of guidance of hard topics and accountability to do the readings.
- My professor was incredible, I have never been so engaged and invested in a class this much
- N/A
- Professor Scauso is extremely accommodating and cares deeply about his students and their ability to succeed in his course.
- Professor Scauso was always a great professor to us and reached out to help us if we were struggling with the class or even with our health. He's a wonderful teacher of the political sciences and I hope to have him again.
- Scauso is brilliant. He knows the material and is passionate about teaching. He is able take some of the most difficult topics and explain them in several different ways.
- This was an amazing course and Prof. Marcos's passion to make sure everyone fully understood and had fun with the topic never withered,even through issues with transitioning to class online. He is open of the few professors who is more concerned with his students passing and understanding real world issues.
- You were my favorite professor last semester and have continued to be my favorite this semester as well. You are always available to provide help and go out of your way to make sure every student in the class understands what you have taught. This especially I find helpful because it shows how much you care about each student not just spitting out information and expecting everyone to get it. You make a subject that I had always felt I wasn't that good at or interested in really engaging.

4. Class Materials

4.3) Please provide any additional comments you would like to convey relevant to class materials:

- He assigned his own research for the course. Limited diversity of authors were provided in the Syllabus.
- I enjoyed reading work from my professor.
- I loved the experiential learning assignment we did, both the actual experience and the paper because it is a subject I am very passionate about personally and getting a chance to see it more in person that I would have was really cool. Plus, it has given me a chance to see that kind of work and to know it could be possible to be involved in it myself. Definitely a highlight of the course.
- N/A
- very engaging book

5. The Course Overall

5.3) Please discuss any and all strengths and weaknesses related to this course:

- A strength would be that because this course deals with some challenging and complex concepts, the actual work like homework assignments and quizzes I felt were appropriate because I never felt swamped or like I was falling behind. Sometimes the readings were a bit long and challenging to understand but by the time we got to class and discussed it everything made a lot more sense.
- I believe that Professor Scauso excels in every category of assessment. He truly is one of the best teachers that I have ever had. I have learned so much from him, and have so much respect for all of his hard work in creating a open dialogue and a safe space. His course has allowed me to approach various perspectives and feel comfortable enough to challenge their ideas and my own. I could not even come up with a weakness for him if I tried. I really recommend that the University take note of what a stellar professor he is, and to encourage other professors to learn from him. Although Quinnipiac has many fantastic professors, he truly stands out as one of the best.
- Professor Scauso is extremely passionate about the material, and presents the information in a way that makes his students think more broadly and creatively. He uses a great deal of philosophy in his political science courses, but is extremely unbiased and fair with his instruction.
- Some of Scauso's biggest strengths are his communication abilities and his pursuit to teach us other ways of thinking and being. Absolute scholar and a wonderful professor to have in the political science department. I would recommend every poly sci major to take this course.
- Such a genuine and smart professor who can relay information with high effectivity and efficiency.
- The structure of this course is something I look for in every course I take.

6. Online Experience

6.1) Were there specific aspects of the online experience that you found engaging or challenging in terms of helping you understand the course material?

- Changing from classes to online was very simple and effective with Professor Scauso. He continues to teach amazing zoom classes, holds office hours and responds to emails quickly. I have had no problems at all with this course switching over.
- I felt as though this professor didn't skip a beat, class was taught the same, his engagement was the same. He updated the course only days after finding out we were switching online, he was very transparent throughout this whole process and it was highly appreciated to have the structure he provided.
- I found the online experience to be beneficial for my style of learning. I was able to focus more on the topics of the week, and having a set goal of submitting notes for participation points helped me better catalogue my learning.
- I loved the discussion and open forum we had and how Easy it was for us to ask questions
- Our readings were extremely compelling and the theorist we read from and about people currently fighting against problems like oppression and disadvantages. It allows me to bring current debates when I have a discourse about these topics.
- Professor Scauso conducted class as normal each scheduled class time. He adjusted his course appropriately and offered several options to make the experience easier for his students.
- Professor Scauso made the switch to online seamless. Because of him, online learning felt manageable and still productive. I was still able to learn so much, and he was still so accessible and enthusiastic. The course material was still challenging/stimulating in a positive way. He made the online experience just as warm and open as his in person lectures were.
- Professor Scauso worked extremely hard to effectively transition this class to online. He created an entirely new syllabus and was very understanding towards this difficult time. I still feel as though I gained the same knowledge through online learning.
- Scauso was amazing during the transition to online learning. His adaptability, understanding, and sensitivity during this stressful time was a blessing to me and, I know, many other students in the class.
- Seemless transition!!! We did not skip a beat in the class since going online!
- Sometimes it was hard to stay engaged in the online setting, not because of this class in particular, but all classes really. It was certainly easier to stay active when you are sitting in the class with the professor and classmates in the room but that can't really be helped right now.
- This course easily shifted into online courses being one of the most effective online classes I have done so far. Scauso really took his time recreating class and I believe it worked very well!
