Philosophy

My philosophy reflects what I believe to be three extremely important elements of teaching: classroom climate and creating a community of learners, making connections to students' lives outside the classroom, and promoting life-long learners.

Testimony

I am new to my faith, but I have been searching as far back as I can recall. Thanks to my husband, who was raised in a Christian household, I found a way to discover what I had been searching for. I have been actively seeking other believers, taking classes, and attending church Bible learning activities to further my walk. I have been saved three years and was baptized at Sandia Baptist Church. Since then, both my children have been baptized there as well.
