Lindsey's Lumber selling

After 47 years of selling lumber and hardware in French Lick and the surrounding areas, Hib and Mark have decided to sell the lumber yard.

We will be selling our current location to Tim & Peggy Leehe of Springs Valley

Hardware.

We will continue the contracting business in a new building on property located between Kimball's and Hunter's Run Storage.

All current lumber yard employees will be retained by the new owners at their present pay structure.

We hope to make the transition on December 1, 2007. I would like to thank all current lumber yard employees for their friendship and service and wish them all the best in the future.

Crew Rewarded

The crew working at the French Lick Hotel was rewarded with a dinner at Diamond Jim's Restaurant recently.

Linda Keck, Executive Administrative Assistant for Brian March, VP of Casino Operations submitted the names of Bob Middleton, Terry Dickey and Mike Switzer for this reward. "Well, what can I say. We were just so impressed with the job they did," stated Keck. "Very neat, polite and efficient crew that went out of their way to allow us to continue our jobs with very little interruptions. Hats off to this crew."

Get to know ... Donald "Buck" Pinnick

Donald "Buck" Pinnick is the first employee spotlight this month.

Buck has worked at Lindsey's Lumber for over 10 years. Always smiling, Buck can be found unloading merchandise or making a delivery to a customer.

Buck and his wife Janice have been married for 46 years and have four children, including twins.

If Buck isn't playing Bingo at the American Legion or working in his garden, he can be found chasing his 5 grandkids: Ryan Goerres, 22; Emily Pinnick, 16; Brenden Pinnick, 12; Nicole Grey, 9 and John Pinnick; 8.

THE ABC'S OF FIRE EXTINGUISHERS

Just as there is a right tool for every job, there is a right extinguisher for every fire. The class of an extinguisher, identified on its nameplate, corresponds to the class or classes of fire the extinguisher controls. On most construction jobs, we are concerned with Class A, B & C fires. Consequently, the best extinguisher to have on a job is a multi-purpose Class ABC extinguisher, which contains a dry, powdered chemical under pressure. The following describes the classes of fire and the kinds of extinguisher that can be used on each.

CLASS A FIRES

Wood, paper, trash and other materials that have glowing embers when they burn. For a Class A fire, use a Class A or ABC extinguisher. Remember that a Class A extinguisher contains water and should be used only on a Class A fire. Used on gasoline, it can spread the fire; used on electrical fires, it can cause you to be electrocuted.

CLASS B FIRES

These are fires involving flammable liquids and gases, such things as gasoline, solvents, paint thinners, grease, LPG, and acetylene. Use Class B or ABC extinguishers.

CLASS C FIRES

These are fires in energized electrical equipment. Use a Class BC or ABC Extinguisher.

SOME IMPORTANT POINTS TO REMEMBER

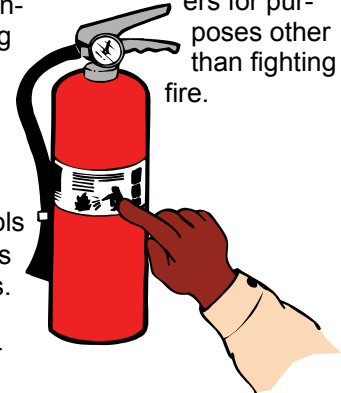

- Use the extinguisher whose class corresponds to the class of fire
- Never use a Class A extinguisher, which contains water or foam, on a liquid or electrical fire
- Know where extinguishers are located and how to use them. Follow the directions printed on the label.
- Keep the area around the fire extinguisher clear for easy access
- Don't hide the extinguisher by hanging coats, rope, or other materials on it.
- Take care of the extinguishers just as you do your tools
- Never remove tags from extinguishers. They indicate the last time the extinguisher was serviced & inspected.

• Report defective or suspect extinguishers to your Supervisor, so that they can be replaced or repaired

• When inspecting extinguishers, look for cracked hoses, plugged nozzles, and corrosion. Also look for damage that may have been done by equipment running in the extinguishers.

• Don't use extinguishers for purposes other than fighting fire.

Project Updates

Historic & Specialty Suites

This project is complete now and I don't mind saying myself that they turned out beautifully. Good Job All. They are keeping Randy and Kevin a little while longer to help punch other areas. I understand the Dome is completely sold out the weekend of June 23rd. The 1st time in many years, & we hope the 1st of many more and wish the owners much success.

Springs Theatre

WOW! Funding is back in place and all oars are in the water. Lindsey's crew & subcontractors are all in high gear and making up for lost time. Keep up the good work!

Orange County Beverage

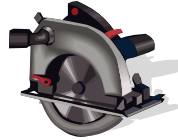

This job is complete and Barry scrubbed and sealed the floors and loaded with product within 3 days. It is always better to work for someone who takes as much pride in their building as we do in building it. I'm sure everyone noticed how clean and neat everything is kept.

Spring Mill

This job should be finished the week of June 25th. The two historical doors we replaced are a full 2 5/16" thick and all of the hardware screws were sent to short. This flew under the radar. The owner was very understanding.

Kimball Restroom

This job is waiting on official start date from the owner. We are still anticipating July 9th.

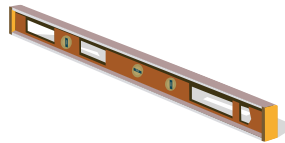

T&M French Lick Resort Casino

Who knows if or when this work will end. We hope that it never does. Bob, Terry, and Mike are doing most of this work. Neatness of work, appearance of worker, knowledge that the guests come first, and completing tasks in a timely fashion are all key elements and I believe that these guys have their keys.

Success doesn't mean the absence of failures; it means the attainment of ultimate objectives. It means winning the war, not every battle.
