Ebony Vision’s October Members Meeting/UW of Oshkosh African American Faculty October 16, 2017

Inside this issue:

- *October Members Meeting
- *Guess Who’s Coming To Dinner YOU!
- *Annual Holiday & Appreciation Celebration

Ebony Vision’s members’ meetings of 2017 have stepped up to the plate; they wanted its members, family and friends of the Fond du Lac community to engage in hearing from guest speakers chosen by the Ebony Vision’s board. The Ebony Vision Board decided this would be a good way to add more interest to our members meetings and to benefit from the knowledge and expertise of an accomplished professional or a respected authority in his or her field.

“Change the tide in the community’s perception and reception of diverse members of the community.”
– Ameerah McBride

This year at Ebony Vision’s October Member’s meeting was hosted by Ameerah McBride of UW of Oshkosh who is the Title IX Coordinator and Director of Equal Opportunity & Access. She invited and introduced seven of her prestigious African American colleagues; the UW Oshkosh African American staff each gave a 3-5 minute presentation on the roles that they serve for the UW campus; their areas of responsibility, their educational background and what brought them to UW of Oshkosh.

Presenters were Dr. Alfred Kisubi- Professor in the College of Education and Human Services, Byron Adams- Director of Student Achievement Services, Academic Support of Inclusive Excellence, Cameron Brown- Admissions Counselor, Dr. Cheryl Green- Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs, James Fletcher- Vice Chancellor of Administrative, and Services Shaniqua Crawford- Investigator/Deputy Title IX Coordinator, Office of Equal Opportunity & Access.

Ebony Vision’s Guess Who’s Coming to Dinner...
YOU!
November 11, 2017

Ebony Vision hosted a community event on November 11, 2017 called Guess Who’s Coming to Dinner...YOU; celebrating who they are in the community. Ebony Vision’s President Daisy Frazier’s vision of this dinner/potluck was a way for multiple ethnic groups to come together for a cultural potluck dinner.

Each year Ebony Vision places a “food list” on their Facebook page so everyone will be able to list their ethnic food choices and the ingredients of each dish.

Each year Ebony Vision places a “food list” on their Facebook page so everyone will be able to list their ethnic food choices and the ingredients of each dish. This year they dined at Pilgrim United Church of Christ - Fond du Lac WI

Ebony Vision’s Guess Who’s Coming To Dinner...YOU has been “breaking bread” for over 3 years now and this potluck dinner has brought all of the Fond du Lac community together in great numbers each year which is the key to community inclusiveness.

Cultural dishes with ingredients included.
