

BEST BRIDE FOREVER

LOGLINE: Two best friends go on a cruise, meet two girls, and get married at sea. One of the girls falls off deck and drowns in the ocean. Because the new husband is drunk he doesn't notice the tragedy. So the best friend and his new wife decide that to keep the groom from grieving they will switch wives. In the morning the tragic groom awakens in the arms of his best friend's wife. But soon romance turns to suspicion, and suspicion into a series of lies, that leads to a love triangle, that seems unlikely to end in anything but another accidental death.

What really happened to Matt's new wife?

ACT ONE: Two best friends, Matt and Doug, go on an eight day cruise to celebrate their friendship. On the first day they meet a couple of girls, and before the end of the night Matt has fallen for Ella, taking her as his bride in a sudden midnight wedding. Betsy, wanting the same, convinces Doug to marry her making it a double wedding. Matt, drunk and off his kilt, is eating cake and taking photos with his bride, until she falls off the balcony into the ocean. Betsy, messing with the camera, misses the accident all together. Doug, put off and jealous of Matt, is somewhat relieved that Ella is now literally out of the picture. Still, he's truly concerned for what Matt's going to have to deal with, since his fiancé had just broken up with him earlier that day. Doug and Betsy, not knowing what to do, decide to keep Matt under the influence, fabricating stories about the whereabouts of Matt's new bride. Without Ella, Matt will experience an insurmountable grief losing his fiancé, and then his wife all in the same 24 hour period. By morning Doug and Betsy have agreed that Betsy must pretend to be Doug's new wife, at least until the cruise is over. But Matt, waking from a stupor into Betsy's arms, is immediately shocked at who his new wife turns out to be. With Ella but a fleeting memory in Matt's imagination, Matt seems beside himself, full of suspicion, and intent on unlocking the mystery of the unlikely bride he finds himself married to.

PREMISE: Without true love, best friends can't be forever.

TAGLINE: Love at first sight doesn't have to mean going over the edge.
