CONQUER THE CURVES

Banski MotorSports has released a new rear-suspension package for C4 Corvettes. It's sold in three separate pieces: trailing arms, camber rods, and toe rods. The trailing-arm kit replaces the stock arms and bushings with a new aluminum-bodied arm and Teflon-lined, steel, spherical rod ends. The camber-rod kit uses a similar arm and eliminates the stock camber rods and cam bolts. The toe-rod kit replaces the entire stock assembly with a stainless-steel bracket for the differential carrier, stainless-steel adapters for the suspension knuckles, and the same type of arms used on the trailing-arm and camber-rod kits. All kits come with everything needed for mounting. Visit www.banskimotorsports.com for all the details.
