

PROSSER BECOMES A PILOT!!!

Rodney Prosser (right) stands with his flight instructor Geoffrey Orlandi after Prosser passed his test to become an FAA licensed Private Pilot. Prosser, a resident of Columbia, achieved his lifelong dream on February 25th after completing his training with Orlandi Flight Center (OFC), the flight school at Blairstown Airport. Congratulations to Rodney from the staff and students at OFC; we all respect the effort and dedication you showed throughout your training. Prosser now looks forward to traveling by air with his family to destinations up and down the east coast. Being the pilot of the aircraft will make the travel the most fun part of the trips! To explore how you can pilot yourself to destinations for business or pleasure, talk to Orlandi by calling 201-874-5458, or stop by the Flight Center, open all year and all time.
