"My faithful friend has been and gone. He said that I must soldier on."

Every year has its good times and its bad times; its trials and tribulations. Maybe this one was not good for you; perhaps it was not bad or at least any worse than others. It could be that we are just older.

Missionary Ridge November 8-10, 2019

On the weekend of November 8-10 I along with Jake Smith and Chandler Dick were able to participate in a full immersion Missionary Ridge re-enactment a Ft. Oglethorpe, Georgia. We were portraying privates of the 4th Florida Company G. This was mine and Chandler's first authentic immersion event and I have to say I am hooked even though I had to endure the trials of extreme cold at night, sleep deprivation, and an assortment of picket and fatigue duties We soldiered on as the original cast would have done accompanied with a fire, a hot meal, along with a bunch humor and complaints. The experience in itself was unlike any other I've ever felt in a re-enactment. It was almost like I was in the footsteps of those men fighting the War. I am proud that I had this opportunity to experience the so called "dark side" of this hobby as well as being able to share the same experience with some of the best names and people in the business. In conclusion, this has shown me that the sky is the limit and that the road to success is never ending. Truthfully yours, Cpl. Brick Nelson / 16th GA Co. G

CATHY'S CLOWN

- The Humor of Kenny Stancil

An Amish boy & his parents were visiting a mall. While the mother looked for cotton fabric for a new apron, the father & son stood around, amazed by almost everything they saw.. They were especially amazed by 2 shiny silver walls that could move apart & then slide back together again. The boy asked, "What is that, father?" "Son, I have never seen anything like this in my life. I don't know what it is." "Could it be a time machine?" asked the boy. "I heard about this movie picture show where people leave the earth in shiny vehicles." "Praise the Lord", said the father. "There sure are miraculous things in the city." While the boy and his father were watching with amazement, an old lady in a wheel chair rolled up to the moving walls and pressed a button. The walls opened and the lady rolled between them into a small room. The walls closed, and the boy and his father watched the small circular numbers above the walls light up. They continued to watch until the last number was reached, and then the numbers began to light in the reverse order. Finally, the walls opened again and a gorgeous 24-year-old woman stepped out. The father, not taking his eyes off the young woman, said quietly to his son, "Go get your mother."

A teen-aged girl with spiked hair, lip rings and baggy clothes was overheard telling a friend, "I don't really like to dress like this, but it keeps my parents from dragging me everywhere with them."

I wish I was the person I believed I could be when I bought all this healthy produce.

150 Years Ago

By Larry Upthegrove

November 30, 1869: In Savannah, GA, yesterdays “Savannah Morning News” published a letter written by General Robert E. Lee to the nephew of George Peabody expressing remorse at the death of his uncle. Peabody Russell is the closest living relative of Mr. Peabody: “Lexington, Va. Nov. 10. 1869.—My Dear Mr. Russell: The announcement of the death of your uncle, Mr. George Peabody has been received with the deepest regret wherever his name and benevolence are known; and no where have his generous deeds—restricted to no country, section or sect—elicited more heartfelt admiration than at the South. He stands alone in history for the benevolent and judicious distribution of his great wealth, and his memory has become entwined in the affections of millions of his fellow-citizens in both hemispheres.....I beg, in my own behalf and in behalf of the trustees and faculty of Washington College, Virginia, which was not forgotten by him in his acts of generosity, to tender the tribute of our unfeigned sorrow at his death.....With great respect, your obedient servant....R. E. Lee” .....

In Atlanta, GA, it seems as if there is a constant parade of shows coming to the city these days. Next year Atlanta will host the State Fair, the same that was held in Macon this year...What excitement!!...As for now, one of the largest of the traveling circuses is here, getting ready to entertain us. Today’s “Atlanta Constitution” has this: “Stone & Murray’s Circus.—This mammoth concern has arrived, and put up its magnificent canvas, between Whitehall & Pryor streets. The performances this afternoon and to-night will be greeted by large audiences, judging from the crowd surrounding it at this writing.” .....
