Hey you 😊

Hope everything is going OK, and your days are looking bright! I've officially started nannying Madison & ocean for the summer, so I've been pretty busy trying to keep them occupied 😊 This house is so full it's crazy. 5 adults, 2 kids, 2 rabbits, a cat, a dog, & a turtle Haha. I love it though, never a dull moment. Sure would love it a whole lot more with your face here though! I think about you all the time & miss you so! Bubba said he sent in our visitation forms, and he might be coming this weekend. Which bums me out a little because I didn't know he was planning on doing that, and I'm planning my friend's birthday party on Saturday back in San Marcos. But I promise I'll try and make it there as soon as possible. I'm not really sure how it works there w/ visiting, but I hope I can hug you! I miss those hugs, man 😊 Next time you're on the phone w/ Bubba and I'm around I'll try and snag the phone again. Even though we usually only get to talk for like 5 seconds before the dang thing cuts me off. Makes me want to throw the phone across the room every time haha. But hopefully I'll be visiting in the next couple of weeks anyway so that should make me feel better 😊 I love you so so so so so much. Can't wait to see you.
