RAILROAD MISCELLANY

In October of 1826, the first railroad in the United States opened, from the quarries at Quincy, Mass. to the Neponset River. The road had metal tracks and the wagons were pulled by horses.

.....
In February of 1827, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company was incorporated in Maryland. It was the first railroad in the United States to receive a charter to carry passengers and freight.

.....
In March of 1828, the Pennsylvania legislature agreed to grant money for the construction of a railroad between Philadelphia and Columbia, said to be the first such undertaking by a state government.

.....
On July 4, 1828, Charles Carroll, the last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence, inaugurated construction on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad which had been chartered in 1827. When the initial section was opened in 1830, it was the first passenger railroad in the United States.

.....
In August of 1829, the first self-propelled steam engine (locomotive) in the United States, the English-built Stourbridge Lion, was run on the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company's railroad from Carbondale to Honesdale in Pennsylvania.

.....
On May 24, 1830, the first section of about 13 miles was opened on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad between Baltimore and Ellicott's Mill.

.....
In July of 1853, a merger of ten small railroads established the New York Central Railroad Company.

.....
On July 1, 1862, the Pacific Railroad Act was passed by Congress, providing for a railroad to be built by the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific from Nebraska to California. Two years later, the Northern Pacific was chartered to build a route from Lake Superior to Portland, Oregon, and to open the land for settlement.

.....
In September of 1867, at the "cow town" of Abilene, Kansas, southern drovers and northern meat dealers held a banquet to celebrate the first shipment of cattle to the east on the Kansas Pacific Railroad as herds began to arrive over the Chisholm Trail on the long drive from Texas.

.....
In July of 1877, workers on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at Martinsburg, W.Va. struck against a management order for a 10% cut in wages and a simultaneous doubling of the number of cars on a train without an increase in the work crew. The strike spread and the Governor of W.Va. called out the militia, but the train carrying the troops was prevented from leaving the station by the strikers, who then set the station on fire, killing 12 men.

.....
On July 1, 1886, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific Railroad v. Illinois that a state law controlling railroad rates was unconstitutional on the grounds that it infringed on the Federal Government's exclusive right to control interstate commerce.

.....
