

Involvement vs. Interference

Be wary of crossing the line
between involvement
and interference.

Involvement helps;
interference hinders.
Involvement participates;
interference dominates.

Involvement cooperates;
interference co-opts.
Involvement supports;
interference undermines.

Involvement looks for
engagement;
interference causes
estrangement.

Involvement is humble
and quiet;
Interference is showy
and strident.

Involved,
you're on the way;
interfering,
you're in the way.
Involved,
you smooth the path;
interfering,
you make it bumpy.

You should realize,
therefore,
that any enterprise
with involvement
takes off and flies;
with interference,
however,
it readily plunges
to a quick demise.
