

"Praying Clear Through"

"Let me urge each and every reader to begin today a constant waiting upon God; an unrelenting, deep, quiet prayer life. When God leads out in prayer, follow earnestly. He is leading, there is something ahead. It is very destructive to rush into the white harvest fields with a prayer-less life. It spells defeat to God. The man who is winning most souls for God is he who lingers much and long in the closet of prayer."

Rev. Will Harney

Out of print since 1915, this book has heavily convicted me of a dimension of prayer that today's Christians have lost. He prayed clear through until God answered mightily against every force that tried to oppose his cry for revival and even his own survival.
