Daughters of Toleza Scholarship

Allina is 13 years old and being raised by her mother. Her confidence and enthusiasm greatly impressed the scholarship committee. When asked at the scholarship ceremony what advice she would give other girls like her, she proudly raised her voice and scholarship certificate and told the crowd that a girl must study hard like her! Our team in Malawi reports that Allina is doing well during her first term at Bakhita, ranking in the top 10 of her class this term.

Patricia is 17 years old and being raised by her grandmother. She left school a few years ago to care for her ill parents before they passed away. She is determined to finish school and dreams of becoming a nurse. The scholarship committee was struck by her generous heart and determination. Our team in Malawi reports that Patricia is doing well at Bakhita. We will have each students' grades in January and speak with Bakhita's headmaster to make sure the girls continue to meet our standards.
