I am not sure who wrote this but it was well said....

Hi Joanne...unbeknownst to any of us our dear Frannie had lung cancer....it finally spread to her lymph nodes and brain and took her from us....she had asked me about how to sign up for the Soirée....then apparently she became too ill to do itshe and Har moved to Virginia and I just assumed to be near her son....but probably due to her illness progressing....all that time she remained just her same funny self!....never letting on to any of us....what an incredible soul she was!....we will truly miss her and all her funny FB stories....
