Discuss Issues Regarding Mission Village Living Center

City Attorney Kevin Hill provided some general outlines that are still in the works. There have been a lot of positive developments in the last week. A plan that is in the works now should hopefully come to fruition at the Commission meeting on May 6th that would provide for the city having say in Mission Village Living Center, and have a newly constituted board. With that, the Manor would remain open under new management. The attorney for Mission Village Living Center is working on updating the necessary paperwork prior to Monday's meeting to make this happen. Kevin Hill is fairly optimistic that by Monday the city will be in the position to announce some firm commitments, and will be ready to proceed the way he thinks the people want the city to proceed.

Mayor Stirton introduced LaMont Cook and Bruce Bird from the Mid-America Hospital Management Company. They provided a brief overview of their company to the audience.

There was a short Question and Answer Forum between the Public, Commissioners, and City Attorney, Kevin Hill.

LaMont Cook and Bruce Bird from the Mid-America Hospital Management Company offered to stay after the meeting adjourned to answer any questions from the public.

Motion by Commissioner Krug to adjourn at 6:07 p.m. Seconded by Commissioner Edwards. All aye.
