MISSIONS FOR HUMANITY
Saturday, March 18, 2017
at White's of Westport

Kathleen Rockett and Pamela Prescott
Chairpersons

Welcome!

Welcome to the 2017 Missions for Humanity Annual Benefit Dinner & Auction. It is great to see so many former, new, and prospective mission team members, families, friends and supporters of all kinds. We have a great evening planned. Sharing time with friends and perusing the many new and exciting items in the Auctions and Lucky Draw that have been added to enhance the great items we traditionally have will make for an exciting evening.

Tonight's auction is possible because of the efforts of a multitude of people who have been working very hard to assure that you have a great evening. Whether it be soliciting donations, organizing tables, designing the auction book or any of the other many jobs that must be done for this evening to happen, people have put in countless hours of hard work because they, as you, believe in the mission of MFH. To all those who have helped in any way, I say thank you. Your efforts are truly appreciated. Sponsors and donors, I am overwhelmed by your unending generosity.

It is because of the generosity of supporters such as you that MFH has been able to accomplish all that it has. So, soak in the excitement and Bid! Bid! Bid! Help us to make this year's Benefit Dinner & Auction the best yet!

Thank you for coming and supporting our efforts.

Sister Maria Ceballos - Guest Speaker

Sister Maria Idelgar Ceballos is a Dominican Sister of the Presentation and a native of Colombia, South America. She graduated from Catholic University of America with a BSN-MSN as an Adult Nurse Practitioner

In her initial years in the Congregation she was sent to the Mother House in France where she completed three years of religious formation. Following this, she was sent to Italy where she obtained a nursing degree.

In 1972 she was asked to join the US Province of the Congregation to be part of the Brownsville community in Texas. The presence of the Sisters in this diocese had been requested by Bishop Humberto Medeiros from the Fall River diocese to respond to the health needs of the poor on the US-Mexican border. Together with the local communities and Peace Corps volunteers, the Sisters were instrumental in establishing federally funded clinics for the low income populations of two counties. Sr. Maria was the outreach nurse practitioner covering 18 rural areas per month on a mobile unit clinic.

In 1982, Sr. Maria was assigned to the Washington, D.C. community. As part of the Spanish Catholic health center, she served the immigrant populations of the DC metropolitan area under director Sean O'Malley, now Cardinal and Archbishop of Boston.

After five years in Washington, D.C., Sister became a mission to the Fall River community and asked to join the pastoral care team. Here Sister Maria became a certified chaplain and worked at Saint Anne's Hospital for three years.

After one year of sabbatical, Sister Maria became part of the missionary team of the Fall River Diocese sent to Honduras with a five-year collaboration commitment. However, after completing the collaboration with the Diocese of Tegucigalpa, the Dominican Sisters committed to stay in Honduras.

Sister Maria is now entering her sixteenth year as a missionary in Honduras.
