

AUSTIN LINTER

Austin Lintner, a native of Richardson, Texas, began his ballet training with Tanju and Pat Tuzer at the Tuzer Ballet. He attended the University of Oklahoma and received his BFA in ballet performance. While at OU, he performed leading and soloist roles in works by George Balanchine, Ben Stevenson, Bronislava Nijinska, David Lichine and many original works by faculty members. He also performed in collaborations with the OU School of Music, OU Opera and the OU School of Musical Theater. Austin's choreography was selected for the University of Oklahoma's Young Choreographers' Showcase in 2012 and 2013. After graduation, Austin joined the Dayton Ballet where he performed works by Jessica Lang, Septime Webre, Amy Seiwert, Gina Patterson, Suzanne Payne, Karen Russo Burke and Durmot Burke. Austin is very happy to be back in Dallas and has thoroughly enjoyed his first year as part of the Dance Industry faculty.
