Legalex is the event for forward thinking and ambitious legal firms that are looking to improve, expand, and modernise and for the first time in 2018, Legal Cyber Security will be running within Legalex. Legal Cyber Security Expo is the UK's first exhibition and conference for the world of cyber security in the legal sector.

Register for your free ticket to attend one of these industry leading events and gain access to both.

Running on the 21st and 22nd March at London's ExCeL, these events make Europe's most comprehensive and all-encompassing trade show for legal professionals - housing 200 cutting-edge supplier exhibitors and 150 educational seminars by some of the leading experts in the sector.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 legal professionals will attend the event to discover the very latest in technology, products and services that are changing the game in legal business growth, as well as attend the interactive masterclasses and educational seminars.

Legal Cyber Security Expo is focussed solely on educating law professionals on enhancing their cyber security and protecting themselves against a cyber attack.

Additionally, with the General Data Protection Regulation coming into effect in May 2018 - from which point any law firm that stores or processes the personal data of clients and fails to comply could face a hefty fine - it has never been more crucial for law businesses to prioritise their data protection.

With both of these industry-leading legal exhibitions taking place under one roof, this is an unmissable event for anyone looking to both transform their legal firm and safeguard its future.
