TONY AMMANN

Is Islam infiltrating the Native American reservations?
If so, why should this concern us?

Tony Ammann, an Anishinabe (Ojibwe) from WI. He has his Bachelor's Degree in Native American Studies from the University of Montana and his AAS in Tribal Management and Small Business Management from United Tribes Technical College in Bismarck, ND. As a Believer of 34 years, Tony has carried an ever-growing affinity for Israel and the destiny of the Jewish people. While in college, he learned not only American Indian law and history and Jewish history, but he also took two college courses in Middle-Eastern history and wrote a paper on Israel-Arab relations.

In September of 2010 Tony was alerted to two Native American women who had been attacked by (FGM) female genital mutilation perpetrated against them by Somalian Muslim men in Minneapolis, MN. Every effort he made to investigate further was stonewalled. He and his wife have been working ever since to expose Islamic infiltration into North American Indian communities. Multiple Mosques are now located on reservations in Canada and one in the US (unconfirmed).

With Polk County in-between the Twin Cities/St. Cloud area and the city of Barron, WI, which has two mosques with exponentially growing number of sharia observant Somalian residents, this gives us great concern not only for the tribes nearby, but the community at large.
