Hegseth warns China poses 'imminent' threat to Taiwan and urges Asia to boost defence

US Secretary of Defense Pete Hegseth has warned of China posing an "imminent" threat to Taiwan, while urging Asian countries to boost defence spending and work with the US to deter war.

While the US does not "seek to dominate or strangle China", it would not be pushed out of Asia nor allow its allies to be intimidated, Hegseth said while addressing a high-level Asian defence summit on Saturday

In response, China has accused the US of being the "biggest troublemaker" for regional peace.

Many in Asia fear potential instability if China invades Taiwan, a self-governing island claimed by Beijing. China has not ruled out the use of force.

Speaking at the Shangri-la Dialogue in Singapore, Hegseth characterised China as seeking to become a "hegemonic power" that "hopes to dominate and control too many parts" of Asia. China has clashed with several neighbours over competing territorial claims in the South China Sea.

He said Beijing was "credibly preparing to potentially use military force to alter the balance of power" in Asia, and referred to a 2027 deadline that President Xi Jinping has allegedly given for China's military to be capable of invading Taiwan.

This is a date put forth by US officials and generals for years, but has never been confirmed by Beijing.

China "is building the military needed to do it, training for it, every day and rehearsing for the real deal", Hegseth said.

"Let me be clear: any attempt by Communist China to conquer Taiwan by force would result in devastating consequences for the Indo-Pacific and the world. There's no reason to sugarcoat it. The threat China poses is real. And it could be imminent. We hope not but certainly could be."

The US does not seek war or conflict with China, Hegseth added.

"We do not seek to dominate or strangle China, to encircle or provoke. We do not seek regime change... but we must ensure that China cannot dominate us or our allies and partners," he said, adding "we will not be pushed out of this critical region".

In response, the Chinese embassy in Singapore posted a note on its Facebook page saying the speech was "steeped in provocations and instigation" and said Hegseth had "repeatedly smeared and attacked China and relentlessly played up the so-called 'China threat".

"As a matter of fact, the US itself is the biggest 'troublemaker' for regional peace and stability," it added. Examples it cited included the US "deploying offensive weapons" in the South China Sea and conducting reconnaissance of what the embassy called "Chinese islands and reefs".

"What the US now offers the most to the world is 'uncertainty," the embassy said. "The country claims to safeguard peace and not to seek conflicts. We've heard it. Let's see what moves will it take."

China's robust rhetoric came as it deliberately diminished its presence at the dialogue.

CONVENIENTLY LOCATED BETWEEEN EAST PLANO AND WEST PLANO MOSQUES!

Faizan Zaki of Allen TX wins 2025 Scripps National Spelling Bee a year after heartbreaking runner-up finish

At the end of last year's Scripps National Spelling Bee, Faizan Zaki grimaced, nodded his head and offered a gracious handshake as runner-up to winner Bruhat Soma after a dramatic spell-off. One year later, Zaki stood alone, with a trophy in hand.

The 13-year-old Allen, Texas, native beat out eight other finalists to win the 2025 Scripps National Spelling Bee on Thursday in National Harbor, Maryland. His winning word: "éclaircissement." You can see the moment he won in the video above.

His prizes:

$50,000 cash from Scripps, a medal and the Scripps Cup trophy $2,500 cash from Merriam-Webster, plus a reference library from the dictionary company.

$400 worth of books from Encyclopædia Britannica

$1,000 in Scholastic Dollars donated to the school of his choice

A five-year subscription to a News-O-Matic platform for his school

First runner-up Sarvadnya Kadam will receive $25,000, while second runner-up Sarv Dharavane will get $15,000. Zaki had previously competed three times in the spelling bee, finishing 370th in 2019, 21st in 2023 and as the runnerup in 2024.

It was nearly another heartbreaker for Zaki earlier in the finals, though. He was poised to win the event after Kadam and Dharavane both misspelled their words in the 18th round. After being asked to spell "commelina," Zaki jumped the gun and started spelling before bothering to ask for the definition or origin. Three letters in — "K, A, M" — Zaki realized his mistake. Kadam and Dharavane reentered the competition, with Dharavane quipping, "This is surprising." Fortunately for Zaki, Dharavane misspelled his next word too, while Kadam fell in the next round, setting him up to take the title. On the final word, longtime spelling bee pronouncer, and former champion, Jacques Bailly playfully asked for "all of us to take a deep breath," to which Zaki deadpanned, "That did not help at all." Zaki again didn't ask for the definition or origin of "éclaircissement," but he clearly had the letters in his head as soon as he heard it.

And as soon as the judges confirmed he got it right, he fell to the ground, followed a moment later by the confetti.

You can see every word Zaki spelled on his way to victory here.

Fort Worth surpasses Austin to become fourth-largest city in Texas; ATX drops to 13th nationwide numbers help tell the whole story. We've created several data-driven stories and databases on topics including weather and climate, politics, education, sports and growth in Texas. Each story in the KXAN Data Hub is updated as new data becomes available.

AUSTIN (KXAN) — While the Austin metro's population continues to grow at a rapid pace, the city of Austin itself has dropped in the largest city rankings, both within Texas and nationwide.

New population estimates released by the U.S. Census Bureau on Thursday show Fort Worth has overtaken the capital city to become the fourth-largest city in the state. On a national scale, Austin dropped to the 13th-largest city. Austin's population was estimated at 993,588 in July 2024, an increase of 4,005, or 0.4%, since July 2023. Fort Worth grew at a much faster pace during the same timeframe — up by more

This story is part of the KXAN Data Hub, where than 23,000 residents, or 2.4% — to more than 1 million.

Houston, San Antonio and Dallas remain the three largest cities in the state. Houston ranks as the fourthlargest city in the U.S., while San Antonio and Dallas rank seventh and ninth.

Austin was the nation's 10th-largest city as recently as 2022, but slipped to 11th last year behind Jacksonville, Florida. This year, it has fallen further to 13th, behind Fort Worth and San Jose, California. The Austin metro as a whole grew by more than 58,000 residents between July 2023 and July 2024, but much of that growth was in suburban communities outside the city of Austin itself. In the KXAN viewing area, four cities appear in the top 30 fastest-growing in the state: Jarrell (28.8%), Marble Falls (24%), Dripping Springs (16.9%) and Liberty Hill (15%). Lockhart, Hutto, Leander and Bastrop all grew by at least 8%, compared to the 0.4% growth seen in Austin. Yahoo/News Christopher Adams

Trump says he wants to reopen Alcatraz. What is it? Why did the prison close?

President Donald Trump said on May 4 that he is ordering the Federal Bureau of Prisons to reopen Alcatraz, the infamous prison island in San Francisco Bay that closed more than six decades ago.

Trump said in a post on Truth Social that he wanted to reopen the prison to "house America's most ruthless and violent Offenders."

"The reopening of ALCATRAZ will serve as a symbol of Law, Order, and JUSTICE," he wrote. The prison was known for housing some of the nation's most notorious criminals, such as Al Capone, according to the Bureau of Prisons. It eventually closed in 1963 after operating for nearly 30 years, but was reopened to the public as a museum ten years later, according to BOP. Here's what to know about Alcatraz, including why it closed.

What is Alcatraz?

Alcatraz is an island in San Francisco Bay that was used as a prison from 1934 to 1963, according to BOP.

The island was discovered in 1775 by Spanish explorer Juan Manuel de Ayala, who named it "Isla de los Alcatraces," which translates to island of the pelicans. It was shortened and Americanized over time, which is how it became known as Alcatraz, according to the National Park Service. It was used as a military fort from 1850 to 1933, during which military prisoners were also housed on the island, according to BOP.

In 1933, the Department of Justice took over Alcatraz to open a maximum security prison for some of the nation's most dangerous criminals. After 29 years of operation, Alcatraz was closed in 1963. It sat abandoned until 1969, when a group of Native American activists occupied the island and remained there for the next two years, according to NPS.

In 1973, the NPS opened Alcatraz as a public museum. It has more than one million visitors per year, making it one of the most popular national parks, according to BOP. Where is Alcatraz island located?

Alcatraz is an island in San Francisco Bay about 1.5 miles off shore and 22 acres in size, according to the Golden Gate National Parks Conservancy. It's about 3 miles away from the Golden Gate Bridge, according to Pacific Open Water Swim Co.

The only way to reach the island is by boat, which helped the prison maintain its physical isolation from society, according to BOP. One of the popular rumors about Alcatraz is that it is surrounded by shark-infested waters that made it impossible to swim to the mainland's shore. However, this rumor is untrue as there are only small bottom-feeding sharks in San Francisco Bay, according to BOP. Several prisoners attempted to escape by swimming to the mainland, but the attempts were mostly thwarted by the water's cold temperatures and strong current. Several people, including a few children and fitness coach Jack LaLanne, have successfully made the swim across the bay over the years, according to BOP. Why is Alcatraz famous? What the prison was

Several of Alcatraz's prisoners were well-known criminals, like Al Capone, George "Machine-Gun" Kelly and Robert "Birdman" Stroud. Many of the island's prisoners were considered escape risks or violent and dangerous, according to BOP.

Prisoners were generally sent to Alcatraz when they would not conform to rules at other federal penitentiaries. However, despite its reputation, many prisoners preferred the conditions — such as having one man per cell — at Alcatraz compared to other federal prisons.

At Alcatraz, prisoners had a highly structured, monotonous daily routine. They had four rights — food, clothing, shelter and medical care — and other privileges, such as corresponding with family members, had to be earned.

There were 14 escape attempts over the years, though no one ever successfully escaped the island, in part due to its location.

Most prisoners spent an average of five years at Alcatraz. Once the prison's officials felt that an inmate was no longer a threat and could follow rules, they were sent back to another federal prison to complete their sentence.

When did Alcatraz shut down and why? The prison on Alcatraz closed on March 21, 1963, because it was too expensive to continue operating, according to BOP.

It was nearly three times more expensive to operate Alcatraz than any other federal prison, in part because its physical isolation required food and supplies to be dropped off by boat. The island also had no source of fresh water, so

The island also had no source of fresh water, so nearly one million gallons had to be barged in each week.

At the time of its closure, Alcatraz needed restoration and maintenance work that would have cost about $3-5 million excluding its daily operation costs.

Movies about the infamous prison, including 2018 film 'Alcatraz'

In addition to becoming a popular tourist destination, Alcatraz has also been the subject of several Hollywood portrayals over the years. Clint Eastwood starred in the 1979 film "Escape from Alcatraz," a biographical drama following the real escape attempt of prisoners Frank Morris and Clarence and John Anglin.

The three men disappeared from their cells in June 1962 in an elaborate plot that included mannequin dolls with real human hair left behind in their beds, according to the FBI. They've never been found and are still wanted by the U.S. Marshals Service, though the FBI believes the men to be dead.

"The Rock," another film about the island titled after its nickname, was released in 1996. It stars Nicolas Cage, Sean Connery and Ed Harris and was directed by Michael Bay.

More recently, the 2018 film "Alcatraz" is based on the so-called "Battle of Alcatraz," a 1946 escape attempt that resulted in the deaths of two prison officers and three inmates, according to BOP.

Ancient Discovery

Shocking Discovery: Archaeologists Uncover 5,000-Year-Old Hiero-glyphs Depicting a Computer and Bicycle in an Ancient Mexican Tomb In an incredible discovery that challenges our understanding of ancient technology, archaeologists have reportedly uncovered 5,000-year-old hieroglyphic carvings depicting objects that resemble modern inventions, such as a computer and a bicycle, in an ancient tomb in Mexico. The intricate stone reliefs, found deep within the tomb, portray scenes that appear to include figures interacting with what look like devices and vehicles far ahead of their time.

One of the most astonishing carvings shows a figure holding an object that looks strikingly similar to a laptop, complete with what appear to be ports on the side. This peculiar artifact has sparked a flurry of questions: How could an ancient civilization conceive of technology that did not exist until millennia later? Could this be evidence of contact with a technologically advanced culture, or even visitors from another world? In addition to the "laptop," another carving reveals a figure seated on what looks like a bicycle—a concept thought to be invented only in the 19th century. The detailed depiction includes features resembling pedals and wheels, leading some to speculate that ancient Mexican cultures might have had knowledge of wheeled transport much earlier than previously believed. These findings have prompted wild theories, from time travel to extraterrestrial contact, leaving both archaeologists and the public in awe.

Skeptics argue that the carvings may have symbolic or religious meanings unrelated to modern inventions, while others are open to the possibility that ancient civilizations might have possessed knowledge or inspiration beyond our current understanding. The artifacts are under intense study as researchers work to decipher the true significance of these shocking depictions.

For now, this discovery remains one of the most tantalizing archaeological mysteries, hinting at the potential for hidden knowledge lost in the sands of time. Could ancient cultures have possessed an understanding of technology that was later forgotten? Or does this point to interactions with advanced beings who left behind hints of their presence? The answers could reshape our view of ancient history and human ingenuity forever.

9 States and cities in the U.S. that pay you to move to them

Some states and cities across the U.S. are offering cash incentives, grants and other cool perks to encourage remote workers and families to move there.

It sounds too good to be true, right? Trust me (and the study on which the list is based), it's the real deal. States and cities across the U.S. are offering cash incentives, grants and other cool perks to encourage remote workers and families to move there. I'm talking about board seats at local nonprofits, family passes to arts events, club memberships, loan repayment assistance, or even support for your kids' education.

So, why would they do this? Simple — states and cities are fighting to attract new residents, especially those who'll settle down as homeowners and stimulate the local economy. Some places even target professionals like nurses, teachers and emergency responders with special offers.

But before you pack up and move, keep in mind that there are some eligibility requirements and a competitive application process. Don't let that scare you — it's definitely doable! If you follow the rules and put in the effort, you might just be one of the lucky ones who gets paid to move to one of these states or cities.

staring at the same four walls while working remotely? West Virginia is calling with fresh mountain air and a $12,000 bonus through the Ascend WV program. You can choose from five great communities like Morgantown's collegetown charm or the adventure-packed New River Gorge. There's even a free year of outdoor fun — golf, ziplining, and gear rentals — worth $2,500, not to mention support for small business owners. Imagine working from the nation's newest national park, cash in hand and enjoying vibrant co-working spaces. Ready to say yes to Almost Heaven?

State: Alaska: Good news if you've ever thought about making Alaska home, because you could get up to $1,600 a year through the Permanent Fund Dividend. It's simple — live there for a full year, and you're eligible. You can apply online or by mail each year from January to March.

This isn't just a cool perk. The PFD helps offset the high cost of living and harsh winters by sharing a portion of Alaska's oil and gas revenue directly with its residents.

State: Kansas: Kansas has 95 Rural Opportunity Zones offering huge perks for relocating. If you have student loans and a degree, you can get up to $15,000 in loan repayment assistance over five years. Plus, you can enjoy a 100% income tax credit for five years after you move. The Sunflower State wants you to experience its peaceful, rural lifestyle and they're making it easier with these bonuses. With $380,000 already awarded to counties for local marketing, you'll have plenty of support while enjoying the natural beauty and community life.

State: Indiana: Here's good news if you're considering moving to Indiana: 66 cities and counties are offering cash incentives plus perks like co-working space memberships, tickets to local events and even personal concierge services to help with the move.

Whether you want small towns or big cities, Indiana has a spot for you. In Noblesville, you can snag $5,000 in cash, while Perry County offers $7,000. Just stay a year to claim the perks — sounds like a win if you're up for exploring Indiana's charm!

State: Kentucky: Brain drain occurs when educated or skilled workers leave their homes for cities with more opportunities, and Kentucky is worried this will drain the state. But the Bluegrass State has a solution — get paid to move to places like Mayfield, Frankfort, and Eastern Kentucky! Frankfort offers $6,500 in cash plus fun perks like meeting the mayor and exploring local distilleries.

Mayfield is sweetening the deal with $5,000, childcare discounts and even a family pass to arts events. Eastern Kentucky throws in $5,000, a welcome package, and a $2,500 bonus for remote workers who bring their spouse into local education or healthcare jobs. Sounds like a win, right?

City: Greater Rochester,

New York: Rochester is one of the most neighborly places in America, with over 100 parks, vibrant small businesses and a nationally recognized school system. The Greater Rochester program offers up to $9,000 in homeowner grants, plus support to help you settle in and connect professionally.

To apply, you need to be at least 18, live 300 miles away, and relocate within six months. It's not just for individuals — businesses can also explore moving to Rochester. If you think this isn't legit, check these out: 32 remote workers have already made the move, bringing 71 jobs with them!

City: Tulsa, Oklahoma: Tulsa

Remote has already brought over 3,000 remote workers to the city since 2018, with a huge $306.7 million economic impact. Tulsa offers a rich cultural history, delicious food, live music and stunning outdoor spaces, making it a great place to live and work. The program gives you a $10,000 grant if you're a full-time remote worker living outside Oklahoma for at least a year. You'll also get a 36-month free membership at a local co-working space. I see no reason you'll pass on this chance.

City: Topeka, Kansas: Seriously,

why isn't everyone talking about this? The Choose Topeka program is offering one of the most generous relocation packages out there, with up to $15,000 available for new residents. If you rent in Shawnee County, you can get up to $10,000, and if you buy a home, that jumps to $15,000!

All you need is a job offer from a participating employer, the right to work in the U.S., and a rental or home purchase in the area. Once you're in, the benefits keep rolling.

City: The Shoals, Alabama:

The rumors are true! The Shoals area in Northwest Alabama is offering up to $10,000 to remote workers who are willing to relocate. You'll get 25% upfront, another 25% after six months and the rest after your first year in the community.

Human smugglers who let Indian family freeze to death while trying to cross the U.S-Canada border are sentenced to prison

The ringleader of a human smuggling plot that let a family of four from India freeze to death at the U.S-Canada border was sentenced to 10 years in prison Wednesday.

U.S. District Judge John Tunheim ordered that Harshkumar Ramanlal Patel - nicknamed "Dirty Harry" by authorities - be sentenced to a decade behind bars for leading the deadly operation. Prosecutors requested a 20-year sentence. Another plot member, driver Steve Anthony Shand was sentenced to six-and-a-half years, though prosecutors had recommended he receive 11 years.

"The crime in many respects is extraordinary because it did result in the unimaginable death of four individuals, including two children," Tunheim said. "These were deaths that were clearly avoidable."

The two men were tried and convicted on four counts apiece last November in Fergus Falls, Minnesota. During their trials, prosecutors said that Patel, an Indian national, and Shand, a U.S. citizen from Florida, participated in an illegal operation that brought people from India into Canada on student visas before smuggling them into the U.S.

That operation left Jagdish and Vaishaliben Patel, and their children, 11-year-old Vihangi and three-year-old Dharmik, frozen to death at the border in 2022, prosecutors said. The morning the family was found, a mere 33 feet from the U.S. border, was -36 degrees, according to a nearby weather station.

The family was originally from Dingucha, a village in the Indian state of Gujarat, which is also where Harshkumar Patel is from. In the village, Patel is a common last name and the victims were not related to the defendant.

Before Harshkumar Patel's sentencing, his attorney maintained his innocence, arguing that he was a "low man on the totem pole" and asked for time served, which was 18 months. However, acting U.S. Attorney Lisa Kirkpatrick said he was exploiting migrants' hopes for a better life in America to benefit himself.

"We should make no mistake, it was the defendant's greed that set in motion the facts that brought us here today," she said before the sentencing.

Harshkumar Patel, wearing an orange prison uniform and handcuffs, declined to address the court and showed little remorse for his actions.

morse. Even today, he continues to deny he is the 'Dirty Harry' that worked with Mr. Shand on this smuggling venture — despite substantial evidence to the contrary and counsel for his co-defendant identifying him as such at trial," prosecutor Michael McBride wrote. Meanwhile, Shand's attorney requested just 27 months for his client, arguing his role was limited as he was essentially acting as a taxi driver.

"Mr. Shand was on the outside of the conspiracy; he did not plan the smuggling operation, he did not have decision-making authority, and he did not reap the huge financial benefits as the real conspirators did," his attorney, Aaron Morrison, wrote.

Bill Gates calls DOGE 'geographically illiterate,' says Elon Musk is 'involved in the deaths of the world's poorest children'

In a new interview, Bill Gates criticized both Elon Musk and DOGE.

The Microsoft cofounder said that DOGE is "geographically illiterate."

Bill Gates sharply criticized Elon Musk in an interview with The New York Times published on Thursday, calling out the Tesla cofounder's role in cutting foreign aid as part of his Department of Government Efficiency initiative.

The Microsoft cofounder said that cuts made to foreign aid, particular programs administered by the now-shuttered US Agency for International Development, were "stunning."

"He's the one who cut the USAID budget. He put it in the wood chipper, because he didn't go to a party that weekend," Gates told the Times of Musk. "The world's richest man has been involved in the deaths of the world's poorest children."

Gates also referred to an instance early in President Donald Trump's term in which administration officials said that the US had been sending condoms to Gaza via foreign aid. In reality, the US had been providing contraceptives to a province in the African country of Mozambique. "They cut the money to Gaza Province in Mozambique. That is really for drugs, so mothers don't give their babies HIV," Gates said. "But the people doing the cutting are so geographically illiterate, they think it's Gaza and condoms. Will they go meet those babies who got HIV because that money was cut? Probably not." Gates made the remarks as he discussed his plans to give away the remainder of his wealth over the next 20 years before closing his foundation in 2045. The Gates Foundation has invested heavily in public health initiatives around the world, often focusing on childhood diseases.

This isn't the first time Gates has been critical of Musk — or vice versa.

Gates has argued that Musk has destabilized the politics of foreign countries through his support for right-wing causes in the United Kingdom and Germany. He's also said that while he believes Tesla is having a positive environmental impact, he wishes Musk were more outspoken about the climate crisis. Musk, in turn, has said that Gates has a "limited" understanding of artificial intelligence.

Musk, DOGE, Tesla, and the White House did not respond to requests for comment from Business Insider.

Officials across US government scramble to implement Trump's surprise Syria announcement

When President Donald Trump announced the lifting of US sanctions on Syria during his trip to the Middle East this week, it marked a major policy shift that could reshape the region and triggered a scramble across the US government to implement the decision, according to three sources familiar with the matter.

Trump administration officials had for months been carrying out quiet engagements to pave the way for sanctions relief and a potential high-level engagement with the former jihadist turned interim Syrian President Ahmed al-Sharaa, but the announcement sanctions would swiftly be removed altogether took some officials by surprise, according to the sources.

"This was not an off-the-cuff decision by the president. The possibility had been discussed for months, but Trump barreled far beyond what was happening at the working level," said a source familiar with the discussions.

The meeting would have been unimaginable until very recently. Syria had been engulfed by a brutal civil war that lasted more than a decade until al-Sharaa led forces that ousted Bashar al-Assad's brutal government in December.

Secretary of State Marco Rubio offered some clarity on how the policy shift would work about 24 hours after Trump's remarks: the US would issue waivers to Syria sanctions, which are currently required by law.

"If we make enough progress, we'd like to see the law repealed, because you're going to struggle to find people to invest in a country when any in six months, sanctions could come back. We're not there yet. That's premature," Rubio said.

The administration is now engaged in a complicated technical review of the sanctions, which is expected to take weeks, officials said. There are no limits on the administration's authority to issue sanctions waivers, but the process will be time-consuming.

A Trump administration official explained Thursday that Treasury "will likely issue general licenses covering a broad range of the economy that is critical to rebuilding in the coming weeks."

Trump ignored Israel's concerns

Trump looked out into the crowd in Riyadh when he made his announcement on Tuesday and pointed to the Saudi Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman.

"What I do for the crown prince," Trump said as he made eye contact with bin Salman. "The sanctions were brutal and crippling and served as an important, really, an important function nevertheless at the time, but now it's their time to shine. It's their time to shine."

The moment crystallized the major role that Saudi officials have played behind the scenes on the topic for months, making the case that removing sanctions would boost the Syrian economy and help to stabilize the entire region.

The Turkish government also had contacts with the US about Syria and knew about the work being done to see if the lifting of sanctions was possible, a source familiar with the matter said. The Turkish government expressed support for those efforts.

Trump said he made the decision to lift sanctions after speaking with the Saudi crown prince and Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan.

When Trump's major policy announcement came, both Turkey and Saudi Arabia were in the room. Bin Salman was there for the meeting with al-Sharaa and Erdogan joined virtually.

But not all US allies in the region were in favor of where Trump was headed: Israel had opposed the move and Trump ignored their objections.

An Israeli official told CNN that when Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu met Trump in Washington in April, he asked the president not to remove sanctions on Syria, saying he feared it would lead to a repeat of the events of October 7, 2023, when Hamas-led militants attacked Israel

On Friday, Trump acknowledged "I didn't ask" Israel about the Syria sanctions relief.

"I thought it was the right thing to do," he said as he wrapped up his tour of the Middle East.

Months of engagements

Trump's meeting with al-Sharaa came after administration officials had been meeting with Syrians in his government for months as they worked on building a relationship with the incoming team and explored sanctions relief.

Syria's Foreign Minister Asaad Hassan al-Shaibani visited Washington for International Monetary Fund meetings in April where he had engagements with US officials with Syria's finance minister, which followed a meeting between US and Syria officials in New York, said three sources familiar with engagements.

Both of those meetings drew on an initial engagement in March between US officials and al-Shaibani in Paris where the US laid out actions that would need to be taken to drive sanctions lifting, sources said. That framework included measures like cooperation on counterterrorism and work to destroy remaining chemical weapons.

Representatives for Syria also met with individuals outside of the US government as part of their "charm offensive" to push for the lifting of sanctions, said Jonathan Schanzer, the executive director of the Foundation for Defense of Democracies think tank. Schanzer, who met with some of those representatives, said they sought to push the message that the new government is not the same as the Assad regime.

But State Department officials also cautioned members of Congress against visiting Syria earlier this year, said a Syrian American source familiar with the conversations. "The State Department wanted to walk, not run, towards this outcome of working with al-Sharaa," the source said.

As the steps were taken towards loosening sanctions and potentially working with al-Sharaa, two main figures have appeared to stand in opposition: the White House's head of counterterrorism, Sebastian Gorka, and Joel Rayburn, who served as Trump's Syria envoy during his first administration and has been nominated to head the Middle East portfolio for the State Department.

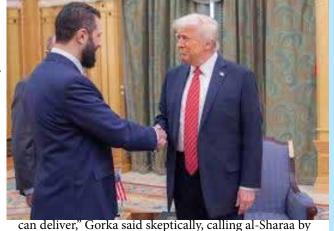

"I think there was a desire to create some space for the new government, but I think Gorka and team were reluctant to 'normalize' Sharaa," said a former Trump administration official.

"Once a jihadi, always a jihadi," was the feeling from Gorka, the former official said.

That sentiment was on display when Gorka said in an interview with Politico: "The fact remains: jihadis very rarely moderate after they win."

He called the president's meeting and message with al-Sharaa "absolute genius," but emphasized the need for inclusion of minority groups in government and the combatting ISIS that the US expects of al-Sharaa.

"Now we will see whether the current acting head of state can deliver," Gorka said skeptically, calling al-Sharaa by the nom-de-guerre he used as a jihadist fighter, "Jolani," and calling his administration a "regime."

Late last year, Rayburn also doubted that the world would support al-Sharaa as Syria's new leader given his jihadist past, but during his confirmation hearing in the Senate he repeatedly promised to enact Trump and Rubio's policies on Syria.

In a pointed question for Rayburn, Sen. Jeanne Shaheen, the top Democrat on the Foreign Relations Committee, asked about "rumors" of discussions about the possible assassination of al-Sharaa.

The concerns over the impact of al-Sharaa being killed was significant enough for Jordan's King Abdullah to raise the issue when he met with senators on Capitol Hill earlier this month, Shaheen said.

"One of the things that was pointed out to us by King Abdullah was that a change in leadership of that kind would create an all-out civil war in Syria," Shaheen said.

"I'm not familiar with efforts like that," Rayburn responded, "but I think that's clearly not in line with the president's intention that he stated or his description of Mr. Sharaa in the past couple days."

Complicated path ahead

As the Trump administration now barrels towards implementing the new policy, experts and groups supporting Syrian civil society say that the complexities are endless. Some are making the case that lifting US export controls on Syria in order to allow US shipments into the country will be critical in addition to the sanctions relief for Syria to begin building its economy.

It is unclear if the interim Syrian government has agreed to all of the US demands, which came before Trump's announcement.

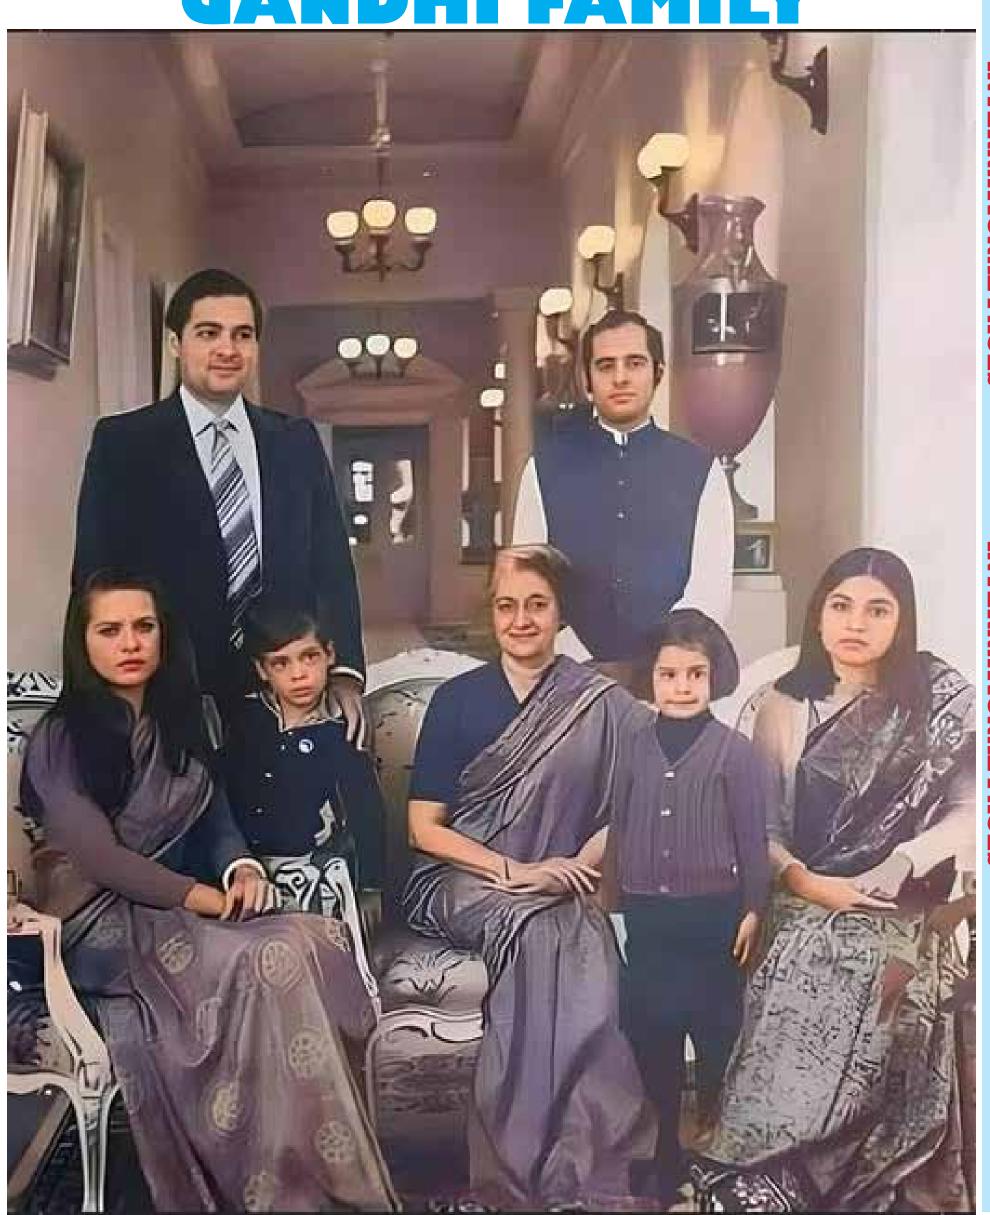

Rubio said this week, however, that the al-Sharaa government had suggested they are committed to the principles outlined by the international community – inclusive government, peace with their neighbors including Israel, and driving out terrorists. He also said that Syria would make efforts to rid the country of chemical weapons with assistance from the US.

But Rubio also cautioned that driving towards a normalized relationship with the al-Sharaa government would not happen overnight.

"This is a new relationship. We've now known each other and known them for 24 hours," Rubio told reporters. "Obviously, we want to see progress made, and we'll take every step that they take, and it'll be a long road, because it's been a long time, so we recognize that, but this is a historic opportunity, and if it succeeds, we have a dramatic transformative effect on the region," he said.

After India became a nuclear state in 1974, Pakistan's Prime Minister at the time, Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, saw this as a serious threat. In response, he laid the foundation for Pakistan's nuclear bomb and decided to develop the country's own nuclear program. His famous words, "We will eat grass, but we will build our atomic bomb," showed his strong will and vision. He gathered a team of Pakistani scientists, and under the leadership of Dr. Abdul Qadeer Khan, Pakistan made fast progress in nuclear technology. This hard work led to the successful nuclear tests on 28th May 1998, when Pakistan proved itself as a strong nuclear power in the world. THE TIMES

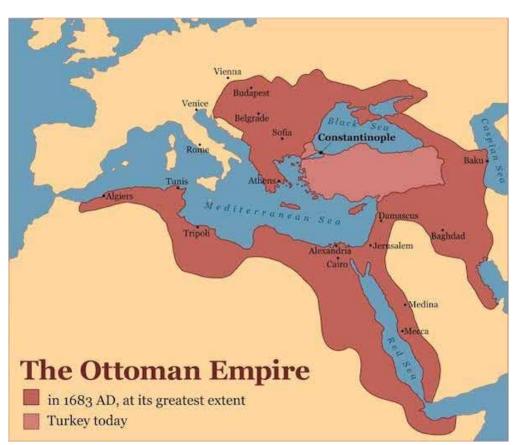

On a bustling New York City sidewalk, Martin Cooper stood with a bulky 2.5-pound prototype in hand—and made history. That first mobile phone call, placed in 1973, wasn't just a test. It was directed to Dr. Joel S. Engel of AT&T—Motorola's biggest rival in the race to create wireless communication.

With that bold move, Cooper didn't just make a call—he sparked a revolution. Today, billions of sleek smartphones trace their lineage back to that single moment. More than a technological breakthrough, it was the beginning of a new era—one where the world fits in your pocket.

The Ottoman Turks' conquest of the Byzantine Empire in 1453 had a profound impact on the course of European and global history. The European Renaissance and geographical discoveries were initiated by the Ottoman control of Asia-Europe commerce lines and the departure of Greek intellectuals for Italy. The conquest of Constantinople had a significant impact on European geopolitics, as it granted the Ottomans dominion over the Mediterranean, the Black Sea littoral, Asia Minor, and southeastern Europe. SAFE DRIVING IN INCLEMENT WEATHER CONDITIONS

Inclement weather can pose many hazards and dangerous road conditions for operators. Workers should be aware of impacting weather events and its effects on safely driving and operating vehicles and equipment.

BE PREPARED

CHECK LOCAL FORECAST

Stay caught up on the latest weather conditions for your area. In the event of severe weather, operations may need to be altered to accommodate the changes.

CONDUCT PLAY OF THE DAY

Based on current and future weather conditions, detailed communication in regards to each worker's assigned task, safe routes to take, and specific operations should be discussed indepth.

PERFORM THOROUGH PM

Check tires, windshield wipers, fluids, lights, and other essential equipment functions that will ensure the vehicle is ready to operate safely and efficiently.

SLOW DOWN

BE DEFENSIVE & OFFENSIVE

Practice safe driving techniques related to defensive driving and Smith System 5 Keys. By using these tools, drivers can remain vigilant in their efforts to arrive safely.

USE SAFE DRIVING TOOLS

Drive with lights on and use warning devices to effectively communicate with other drivers. When pavement is wet, you should decrease speed, turn off cruise control, and increase following distance.

SEEK COVER

With a threat of excessive wind gusts, hail, or even tornadoes, limit driving to an as needed basis. Secure loads, protect vehicles and equipment, and seek shelter when severe weather is near.

STAY FOCUSED

MAINTAIN AWARENESS

Situational awareness will be essential during inclement weather. Pay careful attention to weather, roadway, and traffic conditions as they may change abruptly.

BE PROACTIVE

Remember to Stop. Speak. Act! It is important to stay engaged with the environment around you and make good decisions to ensure the safety of yourself and your teammates.

COMMUNICATE

Keep constant communication with team members about conditions. Radios will be an essential resource in the event that cell towers or electricity are impacted by storms.

HIGH WATER ON THE ROAD & AVOIDING HAZARDS

BE PREPARED

VERIFY CONDITIONS

In high water operations, it is important to remain aware of locations that may become impacted by flooding. All employees should be briefed and updated regularly regarding this information.

ENSURE ESSENTIAL SUPPLIES

Equip vehicles with necessary supplies to respond to flooded roadways. This includes PPE, signage, tools, and water/snacks, especially if employees will be stationed for long hours at these locations.

PLAN FOR MORE

Flooding creates hazardous conditions for workers. Verify that first aid kits are stocked, and fire extinguishers are charged before response.

SLOW DOWN

TURN AROUND

When roadways are covered in water, turn around and never attempt to drive through. It may be worse than what it initially appears. Vehicles are not equipped to handle high water, which may cause the engine to flood or be carried away.

BE CAUTIOUS

In the event of rain or wet pavement. drive carefully to the current conditions to avoid loss of traction on the roadway. Operators should turn off cruise control, slow down, and increase following distance.

HAVE A WAY TO ESCAPE

Avoid areas that would require backing. If backing becomes necessary, use a spotter, when available. Perform 360 walkaround to confirm surroundings are free of hazards.

STAY FOCUSED

OBSERVE SURROUNDINGS

Identify unsafe travel paths and avoid driving through these areas. Debris, fixed objects, downed powerlines, or other items may be hidden. If you don't know, don't go!

CALL A TIME-OUT

When faced with situations that may become unsafe, workers should utilize stop work authority and communicate hazards with others. When conditions improve, a new plan of action may be taken.

REMAIN ALERT

Long hours in this type of emergency response may affect workers ability to remain vigilant. It is essential to communicate with supervision about this to ensure operational readiness.

RECIPES

Grilled Burrata and Tomato Pasta

www.Asia Times.US

IngredientsDeselect All1 pound boneless, skinless chicken breastsZest and juice of 1 lemon7 tablespoons olive oil1 teaspoon dried oregano Kosher salt and freshly ground black pepperTwo 10-ounce packages cherry tomatoes2 shallots, thinly sliced3 garlic cloves, thinly sliced Two 8-ounce balls burrata12 ounces cavatappi pasta1 cup panko breadcrumbs2 packed cups arugula1 cup grated Parmesan Balsamic vinegar, for serving Prepare a grill for medium heat.

Meanwhile, toss the chicken with half the lemon juice, 2 tablespoons of the olive oil, the oregano, 1 teaspoon salt and a few grinds of black pepper. Let it sit to marinate for about 10 minutes (don't let it sit any longer or the acid from the lemon juice will start to cook the chicken).

While the chicken is marinating, toss the tomatoes, shallots, garlic, 2 tablespoons of the olive oil, 1 teaspoon salt and a few grinds of black pepper in a medium bowl. Pour the mixture into the middle of two large sheets of foil stacked on top of each other. Place one ball of burrata on top of the tomatoes, fold the foil over all the ingredients and pinch it tightly on all sides to seal it closed. Grill until the tomatoes are starting to burst and the burrata is melted and gooey, 14 to 16 minutes.

Place the chicken on the grill and cook until dark grill marks appear on the bottom, 7 to 8 minutes. Flip the chicken and continue cooking until a digital thermometer inserted into the thickest part of the chicken registers 165 degrees, 7 to 8 minutes. Remove from the grill and let it rest for 5 minutes. Slice the chicken into 1/2-inch-thick pieces.

While the burrata and chicken are grilling, bring a large pot of salted water to boil. Cook the cavatappi until al dente, about 7 minutes. Reserve 1/4 cup of the pasta cooking water, then drain and set aside.

Meanwhile, add the panko, 2 tablespoons of the olive oil, 1 teaspoon salt and a few grinds of black pepper to a large skillet and cook over medium-high heat, stirring occasionally, until the panko is golden brown, 5 to 6 minutes. Stir in the lemon zest and set aside. Toss the arugula with the remaining lemon juice and remaining 1 tablespoon olive oil.

Empty the contents of the foil packet into the drained pasta and stir until well combined. Fold in the Parmesan, chicken and reserved pasta water until the cheese has melted. Transfer the pasta to a serving bowl and top with the breadcrumbs. Place the arugula on top of the breadcrumbs and then top with the remaining ball of burrata. Drizzle with balsamic and slice into the burrata so that the soft center oozes out.

Grilled Corn with Flavored Butters

Buttery grilled corn is one of our favorite summer dinner staples. It's even better with a trio of seasoned butters—think Cajun, miso and green goddess—served in shallow bowls so everyone at the table can roll an ear in their favorite flavor. Make the butters ahead of time, then pull them out of the refrigerator right before serving. It's hard to beat homemade Cajun seasoning, but feel free to use store-bought if you're short on time. If you have leftover butter, serve it with your favorite vegetables, from boiled baby potatoes to grilled asparagus, or use it to top grilled steak or fish. Ingredients

8 medium ears corn, shucked and cut in half crosswise

For the Cajun butter: Mix the butter, paprika, cayenne, garlic powder, onion powder, oregano, thyme, 2 teaspoons salt and 1/2 teaspoon black pepper in a medium bowl until well combined. Transfer to a shallow serving dish or ramekin. Cover and refrigerate until ready to serve. For the miso butter: Mix the butter, miso, crushed red pepper flakes, rice wine vinegar, lime zest and juice and 1 teaspoon salt in a medium bowl until well combined. Transfer to a shallow serving dish or ramekin; top with a sprinkle of toasted sesame seeds. Cover and refrigerate until ready to serve.

For the green goddess butter: Add the butter, cilantro, parsley, scallions, garlic, lemon zest and juice, 2 teaspoons salt and 1/2 teaspoon black pepper to a food processor. Puree, stopping and scraping down the sides as needed, until very smooth and combined. Transfer to a shallow serving dish or ramekin. Cover and refrigerate until ready to serve.

For the grilled corn: Prepare a grill for mediumhigh heat. Brush the grates with a little oil. Grill the corn, turning occasionally, until lightly charred and tender, 8 to 10 minutes. Serve hot on a large wooden board or platter with the Cajun butter, miso butter and green goddess butter. Cook's Note Store all 3 butters, covered, in the refrigerator for up to 4 days. Alternatively, freeze for up to 1 month.

IS YOUR AIRBAG DEFECTIVE?

Nearly 70 million Takata airbag inflators, in approximately 42 million vehicles, are or will be under recall in the United States by 2020.

Even a minor fender bender can cause these airbag inflators to rupture, spraying metal shrapnel into drivers and passengers.

DON'T RISK INJURY OR DEATH, CHECK YOUR VEHICLE TODAY.

Here's How:

Find it

Write down your Vehicle Identification Number (VIN) or take a photograph of your license plate.

 Look for your VIN on the driver-side dashboard by the windshield or on your insurance card.

Search it

Visit AirbagRecall.com to upload a photo of your license plate or to look up your 17-digit VIN.

Then follow the on-screen instructions to prove you are not a robot.

Enter a license plate or VIN manually

If you see text that reads recall incomplete...

YOUR AIRBAG INFLATOR WILL BE REPLACED FOR FREE.

Schedule an appointment at your automaker's local dealership as soon as possible.

If you see text that reads remedy not available, call a dealer anyway. Make sure your contact information is up to date so they

What is an allergy?

Allergies develop when a person's immune system overreacts to substances that are usually harmless.

The first time a person is exposed to an allergen, they do not usually experience a reaction. It often takes time for the immune system to build up a sensitivity to the substance.

In time, the immune system learns to recognize and remember the allergen. As it does so, it starts making antibodies to attack it when exposure occurs. This buildup is called sensitizationTrusted Source.

Some allergies are seasonal. For example, hay fever symptoms can peak between April and May, when the tree and grass pollen count in the air is higher. A person may experience a more severe reaction as the pollen count rises.

Is it an allergy or an intolerance? Learn about the differences here. Symptoms An allergic reaction causes inflammation and irritation. However, the specific symptoms will depend on the type of allergen. For example, allergic reactions may occur in the gut, skin, sinuses, airways, eyes, or nasal passages.

Below are some triggers and the symptoms they may cause in people with an allergy.

Dust and pollen a blocked or congested nose itchy eyes and nose a runny nose swollen and watery eyes a cough Food vomiting a swollen tongue tingling in the mouth swelling of the lips, face, and throat stomach cramps shortness of breath rectal bleeding, mainly in children itchiness in the mouth diarrhea Insect stings wheezing significant swelling at the site of the sting a sudden drop in blood pressure itchy skin shortness of breath restlessness hives, or a red and very itchy rash that spreads across the body dizziness a cough chest tightness Medication wheezing swelling of the tongue, lips, and face

a rash itchiness

If symptoms become severe, anaphylaxis can develop.

The 9 Most Common Food Allergies
Most food allergies are caused by just nine foods. This article explains what they are, what symptoms they cause, and what you can do about it. Anaphylaxis symptoms Anaphylaxis is the severest form of allergic reaction. It is a medical emergency and can be life threatening. Anaphylaxis can develop quickly, with symptoms appearing within minutes or hours of exposure to the allergen.

Research suggests that anaphylaxis most commonly affects the skin and respiratory system.

Some symptoms include:

hives, flushing, and itchiness difficulty breathing wheezing swelling low blood pressure changes in heart rate dizziness and fainting loss of consciousness

Recognizing these symptoms can be crucial to receiving timely treatment.

Causes

When an allergic reaction occurs, allergens bind to antibodies that the body produces called immunoglobin E (IgE). Antibodies combat foreign and potentially harmful substances in the body.

Once the allergen binds to IgE, specific types of cells — including mast cells — will release chemicals that trigger the symptoms of the allergic reaction.

Histamine is one of these chemicals. It causes the muscles in the airways and walls of the blood vessels to tighten. It also instructs the lining of the nose to produce more mucus.

Risk factors

People may have a higher risk of allergies if they are under 18 years old or have a personal or family history of asthma or allergies.

Some researchersTrusted Source have suggested that those born by cesarean delivery may also have a higher risk of allergies, as they do not have exposure to the mother's microbiome during childbirth.

Common allergens

Potential allergens can appear almost anywhere. In theory, a person can have an allergy to any food. Specific components — such as gluten, the protein present in wheat — can also trigger reactions.

The eight foods most likelyTrusted Source to cause allergies are:

eggs, especially the whites fish milk peanuts tree nuts crustacean shellfish wheat soy

Learn more about food allergies here.

Some other common allergens include:

pet fur, dander, skin flakes, or saliva mold and mildew medications, such as penicillin insect stings and bites cockroaches, caddisflies, midges, and moths plant pollens household chemicals metals, such as nickel, cobalt, chromium, and zinc latex Diagnosis

If a person believes that they may have an allergy, their doctor will be able to help them identify what is causing the reaction.

The person should be ready to explain:

any symptoms they have noticed when and how often they occur what seems to cause them any family history of allergies whether or not other household members have a similar reaction

The doctor may recommend some tests or refer the person to a specialist.

Tests

Below are some examples of allergy tests: Blood tests: These measure the levels of IgE antibodies to specific allergens in the immune system.

Skin prick tests: A doctor will prick the skin with a small amount of a possible allergen. If the skin reacts and becomes itchy, red, or swollen, the person may have an allergy.

Patch tests: To check for contact eczema, a doctor may tape a metal disc with a small amount of a suspected allergen to the person's back. They will check for a skin reaction 48 hours later, and then again after 2 days.

Stolen trailer: Abhishek Banerjee's relentless hunt for a missing baby

'Stolen' is a gripping thriller about two brothers on a desperate search for a kidnapped baby. Starring Abhishek Banerjee and Mia Maelzer, the film premieres globally on June 4, 2025. 'Stolen' follows a heart-wrenching search for a kidnapped baby

The film stars Abhishek Banerjee and Mia Maelzer in the lead roles

Directed by debutant Karan Tejpal, it will premiere on Prime Video on June 4, 2025
The makers of 'Stolen' released the trailer of the film on Wednesday. Starring Abhishek Banerjee in the lead, it's an investigative crime thriller.
The film is directed by debutant Karan Tejpal, and promises a powerful and emotional story.

The trailer begins with a shocking scene at a lonely railway station, where a young mother, Jhumpa (played by Mia Maelzer from 'Beyond the Clouds'), wakes up to find her baby missing. This painful moment sets off a tense and emotional journey, as two brothers, Gautam (Abhishek Banerjee) and Raman (Shubham Vardhan), risk everything to find the child. Their search takes them into a dark and dangerous world where justice is hard to find and survival is a struggle.

Produced by Gaurav Dhingra under the Jungle Book Studio banner, 'Stolen' has reportedly been screened at several film festivals to a positive response.

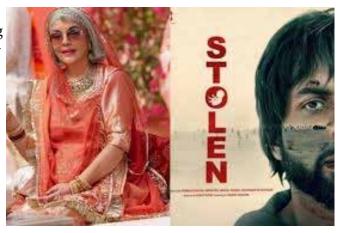

Banerjee spoke about the film in a press release issued by his team. He called 'Stolen' "India's answer to raw, genre-driven filmmaking." The actor said, "The day I heard the story, I knew I wanted to be in the driver's seat - just like my character, Gautam."

Actor Mia Maelzer echoed Banerjee's sentiments, and said, "Stolen' has been a profound journey for me as an actor. Karan Tejpal's vision and sensitivity as a director created a space where authenticity could truly flourish, guiding us to bring out the rawness and depth the story demands. Portraying Jhumpa meant delving into a character layered with complexity and emotional depth, a challenge that pushed my boundaries."

Along with Abhishek Banerjee and Mia Maelzer, the film also stars Harish Khanna, Sahidur Rahaman, and Shubham Vardhan. 'Stolen' explores deep emotions like loss, helplessness, and the struggle between right and wrong. The film will stream on Prime Video in India and over 240 countries and regions from June 4, 2025.

Sitaare Zameen Par

Aamir Khan's film Sitaare Zameen Par which is a sequel to the 2007 film Taare Zameen Par, has been a much-anticipated film. It is Aamir Khan's comeback after the debacle of Laal Singh Chaddha, hence there are a lot of expectations riding on it.

The makers released the trailer of the film yesterday. While the initial reaction to it was impressive, internet users soon found frame-to-frame similarities between the film with the sports comedy-drama Champions, which is the English remake of the Spanish hit Campeones. The plotline of Champions which is available for viewing on Jio Hotstar, reads, "A disgraced coach mentors a team of intellectually disabled athletes, revealing their surprising abilities and changing his own life." This is similar to the story that Sitaare Zameen Par's trailer establishes as well.

Reddit now has a viral thread where it has posted a frame-to-frame comparison of Sitaare Zameen Par's trailer and Champions, and the trolling has gone viral in no time.

Aamir Khan's film "Sitaare Zameen Par" is a sequel to "Taare Zameen Par."

The trailer has garnered initial praise but faced frame similarity claims.

Internet users noted similarities to the film "Champions," a remake.

The comments on the Reddit thread read, "After the Forrest Gump fiasco, he should have stayed away from remakes or adaptations", while another comment read, "Luckily, Champions is less popular than Forrest Gump, so fewer people may care. But still not a good look."

Some other internet users added, "Perfectionist in copying the film frame by frame", another one mentioned, "Even that tubelight falling scene and almost every gag is from the original. I was assuming mamu will put some spin on it, but yeh frame-to-frame remake hai. Story 99 percent same lag rahi hai."

As for Sitaare Zameen Par's plot, Aamir Khan

plays a cranky and negative basketball coach who has the task of mentoring a team of individuals who are suffering from intellectual disabilities. The trailer sets the tone for an inspiring tale.

Directed by R S Prasanna, the film introduces 10 debutants - Aroush Datta, Gopi Krishna Varma, Samvit Desai, Vedant Sharma, Ayush Bhansali, Ashish Pendse, Rishi Shahani, Rishabh Jain, Naman Mishra, and Simran Mangeshkar. The film also has Genelia Deshmukh in a key

روایت ہے کہ حضور رسول مکرم ساہٹھالیا ہم نے ارشادفرمایاجس نے وسعت و استطاعت اور فراخی ہونے کے باوجود تھی قربانی نہیں کی یعنی جس مرد یاعورت بالغ لڑکا بالڑ کی جوصاحب نصاب یعنی 425 گرام 285 ملی گرام جاندی کی قيمت كابيييه ياسونا يااضافي سامان وغيره موجود ہوتواس پر قربانی کرنا واجب ہے اور قربائی واجب ہونے پر یعنی قربائی کے لئے پیسہ موجود ہونے کے باوجود بھی قربانی نہیں کرے تو وہ ہماری عید گاہ یا مسجد جہاں پرعید کی نماز ہوتی ہے وہاں يرنمازيڙھنے کے لئے نہآئے۔

اللّٰدا كبرحضرات محترم بيسه ہونے يا صاحب نصاب ہونے کے باوجود بھی قربانی تہیں کرے تو ان کے لئے کیسی سخت وعید ہے اس لئے ائے میرے بزرگوں بھائیوں اور بہوں آج عید کے دن اپنی طرف سے ضرور قربانی کرو تا كه الله ذ والجلال والاكرام كا تقرب حاصل كرسكوا ورالله ذوالجلال والاكرام کے پاس اینے نیک کاموں کا بہترین ذخیرہ کرسکو کیونکہ بے شک بیقر ہانی بروز قیامت بل صراط پر تمهاری سواری

حضرات محترم قربانی نہیں کرنے پر ہمارے رسول مکرم سالٹھالیا کم نے سخت وعید ارشاد فر مائی ہے، اور وعید واجب کے چھوڑنے پر ہوتی ہے اس سے معلوم ہوتا ہے کہ ہرمسلمان جوصاحب نصاب ہواس پر قربانی کرنا واجب ہے ورنہ

رسول مکرم سلیفلایلم نے ارشاد فرمایا: عید الاصحاً لیعنی قربانی کے دنوں میں قربائی کرنے یعنی خون بہانے سے بڑھ کراور کوئی دوسرا کام اللہ ذوالجلال والأكرام كے نزد يك محبوب ويسنديدہ

حضرت عائشه صديقة فرماتي ہيں کہ حضور رسول مکرم صلی الیالیم نے ارشاد فرمایا: قربانی کے دنوں میں اللہ ذوالجلال والاكرام كے بال انسان كا کوئی عمل خون بہانے یعنی قربانی کرنے

سےزیادہ پسندیدہ نہیں۔قربانی کا جانور قیامت کے دن اپنے سینگوں،بالوں اور کھروں سمیت آئے گا اور بے شک قربائی کے جانور کا خون زمین پر گرنے سے پہلے ہی اللہ ذوالجلال والا کرام کے دربار میں مقام قبولیت حاصل کرلیتاً ہے اس کئے تم لوگ خوش دلی کے ساتھ قربانی کیا کرو۔حضرت عبداللہ بن عباس بڑاٹھ سے روایت ہے کہ حضور ر سول مکرم صلافظاتیلیج نے ارشا دفر مایا: عید الصحی یعنی قربانی کے دنوں میں سب سے اجھا پییوں کا خرچ یہ ہے کہ اپنے پییوں سے قربانی کا جانور خزید کر ذبج کریں تعنی قربانی کریں۔حضرت علی وٹاٹنینہ سے روایت ہے کہ حضور رسول مکرم سالٹھالیلم نے ارشاد فرمایا اے لوگوں قربانی کرواور قربانی کوثواب کی نیت سے کرو کیونکیہ قربانی کا خون اگر چہ زمین پر گرتا ہے کیکن وہ اللہ ذوالجلال والا كرام كي حفاظت بين هوتا ہے۔حضرت حسین بن علی طالعہ سے روایت ہے کہ رسول مکرم سالافلالیل نے ارشادفر ما یاجس نے حسن اعتقاداوراجر وثواب کی نیت سے اور خوشی کے ساتھ قربانی کی توبیقر بانی اس کے لئے دوزخ سے نجات کا ذریعہ بن جائے گی اور آگ سے حجاب ہوجائے کی۔حضرات محترم! آخرت کے عذاب سے بچنا چاہتے ہیں تو ہم کو قربانی دینی ہی ہوگی ۔ ججۃ الواع کے موقع پر حضور رسول مکرم ساہٹھائیلی نے حج کی قربانی کے100 اونٹوں کو ذرج کرنے کے علاوہ عیدالاصحٰیٰ کی قربانی بھی کی یعنی رسول مکرم سالٹھالیا ہے خود آپنی طرف سے ایک بکری ذیح فرمائی اور ایک گائے اپنی از واج مطہرات کی طرف سے ذرج فرمائی۔(صحیح مسلم:۱۲۱۱) آخر میں دُعا کرتا ہوں کہ اللہ ذ والجلال والاكرام هم تمام كواور هاري آنے والی نسلوں کو عیدالاطلح کے دن

قربانی کرنے کی توفیق عطا فرمائے۔

دیئے اور سب کے مولیثی وہاں باندھ دیتے ہیں۔ قربانی کے جانوروں کی شفٹوں میں دیکھ بھال ہوتی ہے۔آپ بچوں کے ساتھ جا کران ہے مل لیں اور بس ۔ آپ کو کچھ کرنے کی ضرورت نہیں ہے۔سوائے کچھ رویے فیس کے طور پران کو دینا پڑتے ہیں ۔نوجوان کے لئے بھی بیشغل ہے اور رت عِگے بھی ہورہے ہیں آپ کے قربانی کے جانور کی شاخت اس کی آرائش سے ہے یا پھر کچھلوگ ان پرعیدمبارک وغیرہ بھی لکھ ڈالتے ہیں۔ یہ بھی خوب ہے۔ ہم نے یا کتان میں بقرعید منانے کے بارے میں ليجھ يول لكھا تھا:_

ایک سال بقرعید منانے ہم پاکستان گئے

وہاں قربانی ہوتی ہے کیسی ہم جان گئے آج کل کے قصائی بڑے ایڈ وانس ہو گئے صرف بقرعيد كے لئے قصائى بائى چانس ہو گئے کنگی کی جگه پتلون، ہاتھ میں رکھےسل فون منٹوں میں کریں بیائی جانوروں کا خون دوستو ۔ اگر عرصے کے بعد آپ کا كراچى جانے كا اتفاق ہوگا تو آپ جان جائیں گے کہ آج کل توقصائی بھی ٹیکنالوجی سے فائدہ اٹھارہے ہیں۔فون پرایڈوانس بکنگ ہورہی ہے۔ چاہے تو آپ ای میل ایڈریس بھی لے لیں ۔عید کے دن قصائی ا پی بوری ٹیم کے ساتھ بڑی شان سے نکلتا ہے۔اس کا ہر گھر میں ایساا ستقبال ہوتا ہے

که کوئی بڑا لیڈر ہو۔ چھری پکڑنا اس کی شان کے خلاف ہوتا ہے۔اس کے ہاتھ

میں تو سیل فون ہوتا ہے۔ چھری کانٹوں سے لیس اس کے چیلے ہوتے ہیں جن راست سیل فون پر قربانی کے دوران کا نفرنس کال کرتا رہتا ہے۔ اپنے ٹیم کے چیلوں کوفر مان جاری کرتا رہتا ہے کہ فلاں فلال گھر میں ابھی گردن کاٹی ہے۔کسی کی کھال تھینچی ہے۔کس کے گھر کے ککڑے کرنا ہے اور کس کس کا قیمہ بنانا ہے۔ ہر من اورموقع ہے آج کا قصائی کل کالیڈر بن سکتا ہے ۔ قارئین ہم تو جیوٹی وی (Geo TV)والوں سے کہیں گے کہان کے پروگرام" جیو کے ساتھ ایک دن" کے لئے کسی قصائی کا بھی انتخاب کریں تا كەدونوں كا موازنە ہوسكے ليڈرقوم كى کھال تھینچ لیتے ہیں اور قصائی جانور کی ۔ ویسے آج بھی قربانی کے جانور کی کھالوں کے لئے پہلے کی طرح ساس جماعتیں جدوجهد میں لگی رہتی ہیں۔
