

I Will Confound Your Naysayers

May 6th, 2021

Hello, brothers and sisters and Heartdwellers family. May you all receive grace for perseverance and faith as we praise the Lord for the things, He is doing that we cannot see.

I hope you all are enjoying the messages from Daddy Speaking Series. I know it has even blessed me as I have been able to revisit those words and found myself identifying with each soul he was talking to. Since I have been working on this series, amongst other things these past couple of days, I had not really sought the Lord for a message.

We have also been preparing for the ordination for our first Heartdwellers Ghana priest which has been exciting. The Lord put it on my heart for us to do a Novena to Our Lady of Africa for the intentions and preparation of our priest. With a novena, comes novena weather, which is suffering and sacrifice to back up our prayers for the nine days. And I was feeling it on the 5th day.

Father Ezekiel had been suffering all this week, which is leading up to May 1st, the Feast of Beltane, the second-highest Satanic feast day. That night he was feeling so weary and had no strength to suffer anymore or go on. So, we were praying for him fervently, and that evening I had a dream where I was talking to Mother Clare. I was sharing with her some rhema's I received, which I thought meant one thing, but she then turned to me and said, "These rhema's are about attacks against the faith".

Then, when I woke up the following morning, I was feeling so empty; and thoughts from the enemy were bombarding me that, "Nothing has changed" and, "Nothing will ever change". I was having deep feelings of loneliness, rejection, doubts, and feelings of wanting to give up. I realized these feelings had been building up for days as I was being reminded of past wounds.

I was struggling to have hope and faith in anything the Lord had promised. I ran to him during prayer hoping he would pull me out of my pit. And after holy communion, I felt strengthened but still had feelings of melancholy. So, I offered it up to the Lord and asked Blessed Mother to please help me have a heart and a spirit of gratitude instead of complaining.

After prayer, I got some rhema's and the first one read, "In a pillar of cloud I speak to you, and you hear My commandments; for I am gracious to you",

The second said, "I chose you, the most broken and sin-sick priest, in order to fill your poverty with My gifts, and to display My power in your weakness". Interesting, and a little bit of an ouch.

And the last rhema said, “What does it matter to me what people say about me? I have long ago given up everything that concerns my person. My name is host--or sacrifice. Not in words, but in deeds, in emptying of myself and becoming like you on the cross. O Good Jesus my master!” And that is from St. Faustina.

I immediately thought “That maybe the reason I am feeling arrows of rejection, because I’m being talked about again”. And this time I felt it wasn’t the demons. But it could be my loved ones or friends from my past. I had received Psalm 55 as a rhema a couple of days earlier and that is about David being betrayed by a close friend. I realized that maybe Jesus wanted to talk with me. So, I sat down to hear from him and get a message.

When I sat back down before him in the Eucharist I heard, “I will confound your naysayers”. I said, “I am here Lord,”

Jesus began,

“I will confound your naysayers, my beloved one. I know this has been a tough journey for you and many of my brides. You all are weary on the battlefield with various temptations to give up, and no longer believe in my promises or the words I have spoken to you. You are not the only one feeling hopeless and weary from this battle. Many arrows and assignments have been released on my body in this hour with strong temptations to give up. Why are they attacking so hard? Because it is always the darkest before the dawn. Breakthrough is coming. And I know many of you have heard that time and time again and waited to see things not move as fast as you desired. But breakthrough is indeed coming, and right around the corner. Mark my words, beloved one, this summer will be one of celebration and dancing as I confound your naysayers.

Many of you have been scorned by loved ones concerning the vaccine, and of the truth of what really happened during the election. As they mocked you and all my prophets, spewing lies and defaming My character on top of it.

To turn this country back into the hands of the rightful president will take time, my beloved ones. But a big event is coming where truth will be revealed to the masses as the present administration’s motives and secret operations begin to be uncovered, slowly but surely, for the mess that it is”.

As an aside here, I wanted to share a dream one of our intercessors had. She saw a house with a huge tarp covering it. On the outside, it seemed massive and very nicely architected. However, the tarp, all of sudden, began to slip off slowly and uncovered what a mess it was. Unfinished, with rubble, amongst other things. After the dream, she immediately felt a quickening from the Holy Spirit that it was about Biden’s administration; that on the outside it seemed nice, but it would be soon uncovered for what it really is.”

“So be patient with Me, my beloved ones. My timing is always perfect, and there are so many factors that play into an overturn of your government. So, many will be affected, as I mentioned. There will be casualties. These souls are my children too, and I grieve over their decisions and grieve over every loss that will take place. That is why many of you continue to carry heavy crosses. It is for your nation as it continues to hang in the balance. Your prayers are the deciding factors for many souls awakening to the truth, and souls perishing. Please fight with Me a little longer on the battlefield. You cannot see from your vantage point, but we are winning, and we will be victorious.

To you, my little one, please trust Me with every promise, even with this community. It is my work, and I will bring it to fruition despite the scoffers and the criticism. Many times, I close your ears to knowing of what others say about you, and at times I permit the fiery arrows to hit you and you feel it so keenly. So, when you feel a sense of hopelessness, discouragement, and rejection from nowhere, many times you are under attack by the words of men whom you do not know of.

That is the safest place to be, so you don't cast judgment. Forgive them, beloved, they know not what they do or say. They don't realize how it is impacting you and how I will use it all for My glory. The rhema I gave you today was rightly so. You are my most sin-sick priest and broken one. But it is because of your poverty and trust in Me that I will use you to do great things and confound the wise. Continue to stay faithful; praise Me, trust Me, and be expectant for what I am about to do.

I love you; I love you, I love, you. I love you all, my brides. Persevere with me on this battlefield and I will confound all your naysayers.”

That was the end of Jesus' message.

Thank you for all who continue to donate toward the City of God Sacred Heart Refuge Community in Ghana. Every one of your donations and prayers is so very much appreciated. You make it possible for us to even help people now. Thank you!
