

The Sacramento Cat Hospital, established in 1974, has been providing personalized, progressive, and innovative veterinary care for more than 35 years.

Because our practice is limited to cats, our training and continuing education are focused on feline medicine and surgery, helping us stay on the cutting edge of feline care.

Our caring staff members are trained to utilize the newest behavioral information in order to emphasize feline-friendly handling techniques. Our goal is to minimize stress during your cat's visit to our office, making it a pleasant experience both for you and your feline companion.

Providing Old-Fashioned Care
with Modern Technology

(916) 488-4161

We treat all of our patients with love, dignity, and compassion, as if they were our own.

General Practice

Our general practice focuses on your cat's overall health, and emphasizes regular wellness exams and preventive medicine, plus routine care such as spay or neuter, vaccinations, microchipping, and parasite control.

We provide comprehensive in-house laboratory services, and also work with outside labs if more extensive lab-work is necessary. Our in-house pharmacy stocks a wide range of veterinary drugs and alternative remedies.

Diagnostics

Advanced diagnostic tools allow us to effectively assess your kitty's health. Digital radiographs (x-rays) let us evaluate musculoskeletal, cardiovascular, gastrointestinal, urinary, and reproductive systems. Non-invasive ultrasound equipment lets us painlessly examine specific internal organs such as the heart, kidney, or liver.

Behavioral Issues

We will work with you to develop creative ways to address issues such as spraying, biting, scratching furniture, litter box problems, and separation anxiety. We'll first rule out an underlying medical condition. We'll then recommend humane behavior modification techniques. In some cases, medications and alternative treatments may also be suggested.

Dentistry

Cats can experience major health problems related to their teeth, including dental tartar, gingivitis, infection, resorptive lesions, and stomatitis. To help keep your cat healthy, we provide advanced dentistry services, including digital dental x-rays, teeth cleaning and scaling, exodontics (extractions), and endodontics (root canals).

Surgical Care

We provide the highest-quality surgical treatment using advanced technologies and techniques. Patients are carefully screened prior to surgery, and anesthesia protocols are tailored specifically for each feline. During surgery, your cat is constantly monitored using EKG, blood pressure, respiratory, and heart monitoring equipment. After surgery, special emphasis is placed on pain management.

Pain Management

We believe that pain management is an important component of effective care. Pain management can improve quality of life for patients suffering from degenerative illnesses such as arthritis; those recovering from surgical or dental procedures; or those being treated for diseases such as cancer.

Emergency and Critical Care

Our doctors have extensive training in emergency medicine, surgery, and intensive care for critically-ill pets. If your cat will need ongoing emergency care during the hours our hospital is closed, we will work with you to transfer your cat to a referral hospital to ensure that your cat's continuing medical needs are managed in a professional and caring manner.

Specialty Referral Service

There are times when your cat may need specialized equipment, expertise, or treatment. Initial consultation with one of our veterinarians may include referral to one of our board-certified specialists. We work closely with specialists in all practice areas to ensure that your pet receives the very best care.

Complementary and Alternative Treatment

We work closely with a veterinarian trained in complementary and alternative medicine; this provides treatment options that work in conjunction with Western veterinary care to enhance your cat's health and wellness. Options include acupuncture, acupressure, Chinese herbs, nutraceuticals, vitamins, supplements, trace minerals, and flower essence therapy.

Feral Care

We have years of experience working with feral cats, as well as cats who are difficult to treat due to fear or aggression. We can provide complete medical care and treatment for these cats, in addition to spaying and neutering. Our doctors strive to examine and treat these felines without anesthesia, but when needed, we provide safe anesthetic protocols.

Payment Options

We understand that the cost of your pet's healthcare can be a concern. Our doctors will work with you to create financial plans and solutions that work for you. We accept all major credit cards; we also accept CareCredit, a credit card used exclusively for health-care services, including veterinary care.

through each stage of your cat's life.

Benevolent Work

It's important to us to give back to our community. Our Benevolent Fund (www.sacatfoundation.org) provides medical care to cats who otherwise would not receive treatment, and also provides services to help control feline overpopulation. We also hold annual pet food drives that benefit local charitable organizations.
