

What makes a great Childcare Center? That is the question that you need to ask yourself when looking for quality care. A Center that offers well rounded stages of growth, from infancy to school age. Teachers that have been with the Center for more than a few months. Offering educational degrees, as well as time served at the Center. This was my goal seventeen years ago!

You see, my own children were in "daycares", and that's exactly what they were. Individuals caring for my children daily. I have three, two of which have mental disabilities. I quickly realized the fundamentals of learning, playing, and teaching skills just were not there. They needed more! I expected more! When I picked up my children, (which at the time they were 3,4, and 5 years old) they were simply sitting in front of a television. I guess Barney and Big Bird were the teachers. Not really fair when you're writing a check every week and getting "Barney said.....". So what to do? Quit my wonderful nursing job, take all my savings, beg my mother to watch my children (Thanks MOM), and start my own Center. I definitely had to struggle the first few years. It takes a lot to wear as many hats as I do, but so far it has been worth it. My children are 20, 21, and 22 now. Time has really flown by. My life really took a turn in a different direction, and my journey is not over. It begins every day, with every new child that is enrolled. Please feel welcome to come and take a look at my center, or just to come and meet me. I am not just the owner, I am also a TEACHER.
