NOTICE

Per Montana statutes, a homeowner may secure an electrical permit and do the work in private structures occupied and used for their personal, private use. All other work must be by (and permit issued to) a Montana licensed electrician. Work must commence within 180 days of permit issuance. An extension must be requested in writing by the permit-holder and may be granted having shown just cause. It shall be the duty of the installer to call for an inspection prior to covering.
