

Dec 7, 1977

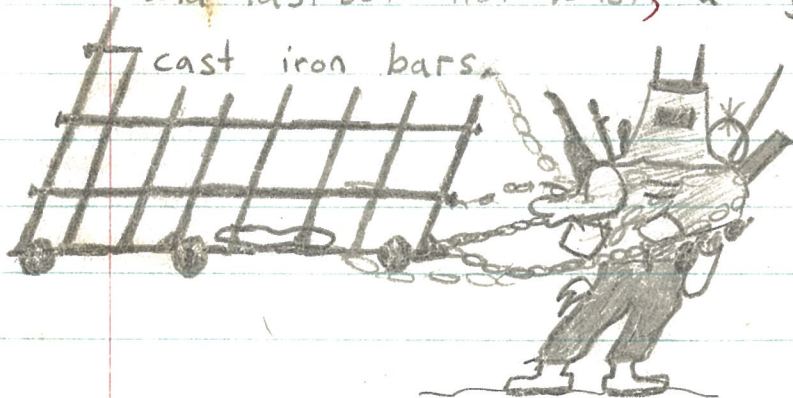

HOW TO BATTLE A DRAGON

by Joe Dipentino

13/15

Xtra credit 15

¶ Well the first thing you do is get a fireproof ^{sp}suit ^{sute}, and a spear, a m-16, a 75 caliber recoilless rifle ^{sp}, and a grenade ^{sp}, a bottle of crazy glue, a bucket of water, some flour, a spoon, 1 banana peel, (rotten of course), a sirloin steak, medium rare, 2 inches thick ^{and} 67 inch diameter, a mirror, a Popeil's pocket fisherman, a stink bomb, and last but not least, a giant cage with cast iron bars, and a bomb.

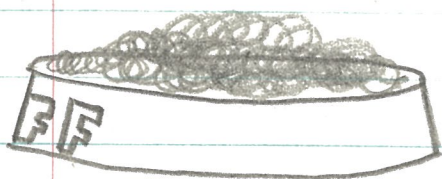

¶ The first thing you do is get all your stuff together. Then go in the cave which the dragon rests, brace yourself up against a rock, get out your 75mm and fire aproximately ^{sp} 6 shells at the dragon waking him up. When he is awoken ^{true sp}, on about the sixth round, step into his shadow and then show him the sirloin steak. If he blows fire on you douse it with the bucket of water. ¶ hook the steak on the popeil's pocket fisherman and cast it in the cage.

J.D.

If he doesn't fall for it then you have to go to extremes; Now take a couple drops of water and put them in the spoon add some flour mix it and launch it down his throat this will stop him from being a blow torch, Now you leap upon him and take his tong^{sp} and pull it out of his mouth (this takes bravery) and leap upon it before he slurps you up. Taking your iron boots kick his teeth out, Flip him to the ground and take out your spear and pin his tongue to the ground before he wiggles away.

9) Squirt some crazy glue (ha! ha!) under his feet (ha! ha!) ~~Now~~ he's stuck in 10 seconds. Then take your banana peel under his nose this makes dragons tired. When he's asleep take your m.16 and blast away at his feet loosening the glue's bond. Then take your hand grenade back the cage up to the dragon pull the pin and stand back. "BOOM" he's in the cage. ~~boom~~
If the Boom woke him up make him look at himself in the mirror this will put him in a state of shock. Throw the stink bomb at him this will make him gag ⁱⁿ himself to sleep.

Now that he is doomed ~~in~~^{to} the cage you talk to him and tell him you will never feed him, and you will leave him in the cage forever, if he doesn't ~~act~~^{act} be nice and be your pet. If he refuses you leave him in the cage and every once in a while you throw a rock at him. ~~¶~~ Sooner or later he'll give up and be your pet. If he doesn't refuse you toss him the steak and let him out. ~~¶~~ If he tries to kill you, then you pull the switch connected to the bomb under his chest, that you put there while he was asleep and you will of course end his life, and maybe yours if you don't watch out. If he be's nice to you instead, you take the bomb off and you and him will be freinds^{friends} for as long as you both live. ~~¶~~ Now that he's your pet he will do what you want him to do. One day you want to give him a bath. The first thing you do is tell him to not be afraid. Now take the garden hose and wet him down then tell him to lay on his back and rub his tummy - with sudseys brand flea soap until he's nothing but a big mountain of suds.

Then before you rinse him off, you get your sled and have a ball ~~now~~ - play your heart out. Then get your hose again and rinse him off get an old bed spread and dry him off. Now that he's all dry get some turtle wax and wax him to a high gloss. When he's all polished off you put on his collar and walk him down the sidewalk, or ride him if you prefer, and show him off.

the end

