Sun, Sand, Sea, Scouts

Troop 78 made its way to the beaches of southern Delaware for a delightful weekend of fun and relaxation. After an uneventful bus ride Friday night September 16th, we set up camp at the Delaware Seashore State Park campground. We had plenty of room, picnic tables, and we were within a short walk of the ocean.

Saturday morning we had a great breakfast of french toast and sausage and then set out for the beach. It was a beautiful mid-September day, sunny, no humidity, no bugs, and beach as far as the eye could see. We set out a few chairs, enjoyed the ocean, and the sounds and sights of the ocean. Many went for a swim in the warm ocean waters and waves. Some went for a beachcombing walk, others just relaxed in some chairs we brought along.

We returned to the campsite for a delightful lunch of grilled hamburgers and all the fixings. Then we took a walk on a nature trail nearby. The park has preserved some of the old growth forest which used to line the bay near the shore. It was a nice walk along trail and raised walkways.

We returned to the campsite by late afternoon to prepare dinner, which was chicken burritos, always a hit. After everyone had their fill, we drove to the boardwalk in Rehoboth. There we snacked on all of the usual boardwalk favorites: fries, caramel corn, ice cream, taffy, pizza – you name it.

By the time we got back to the campsite, we were all pretty tired from a long day and went to bed for the night. Sunday morning we had a quick breakfast of cereal and muffins and then loaded the bus for the trip back to the cabin. We arrived at the cabin right at the pre-planned time. Altogether it was a great weekend and lots of fun was had by all.

First Troop Meeting

Fall 2016

Friday September 9th ushered in the new scout year. It was a beautiful late summer night at the cabin, the meeting got underway as the sun slid gently below the tops of the trees. We had close to 50 fifty scouts, including several new faces join us for an evening of scout skill training and demonstration and fun. The older scouts trained up the younger scouts in knot tying and lashing. Then those skills were put to the test in several activities. The scouts had to build chariots to demonstrate their proficiency in the knots and lashings, and then they had the traditional chariot race to see whose chariot could hold together under actual use. The patrols then put their skills to the test of construction of forts made from lashing poles and tarps. The forts were then home base during a spectacular water balloon fight that resulted in shrieks and howls all around and everybody soaked. Perfect for a warm evening cool down.

Order of the Arrow Service Weekend

When Fall rolls around you can count on several things. First the temps get cooler and there is a service weekend at Camp Horseshoe. September 23rd members of the Order of the Arrow (OA) convened at Camp Horseshoe and Camp Ware for a weekend of work to complete service projects to improve the camps and get them ready for the Winter season. (Troop 78 will be at Camp Horseshoe January 6, 7, 8 for our annual Winter Weekend. Join us!)

At Camp Horseshoe Troop 78 inducted several new members and as is a Troop 78 tradition, completed a substantial camp improvement project. A Troop 78 crew repaired/replaced a section of the Floor in Kindness Center. This section of the floor had deteriorated to the point the area was closed to use. The Troop removed the deteriorated section and then systematically, tediously replaced the floor under the direction of the tireless Ernie Heegard. Starting with a dirt floor, 5 to 6 inches of gravel was spread by using the old Ernie adage: many hands make light the work. Then the beams and joists were leveled and installed. We will return to install the tongue-and-groove. Troop 78 continues its long traditional of substantial camp improvement projects.
