

Deep Breath

Life's too short for second chances
It's as quick as the setting sun
I live my life in fleeting glances
Am I the only one?

The clock is always ticking
And, the TV is always on
Sometimes I get the shivers
Am I the only one?

Sometimes, you've got to take a deep breath
Sometimes, you've got to close your eyes
Take a deep breath and hold it
'Til it passes by

This old life is so elusive
It's hard to touch
And hard to hold
Like a dream you can't remember
The greatest story ever told

Sometimes, you've got to take a deep breath
Sometimes, you've got to close your eyes
Take a deep breath and hold on
'Til it passes by

Like storm on the horizon
Like a stranger with a gun
Death moves in slow motion
But you live your life on the run

Sometimes, you've got to take a deep breath
Sometimes, you've got to close your eyes
Take a deep breath and hold on
Need I tell you why?

Sometimes, you've got to take a deep breath
Sometimes, you've got to close your eyes
Sometimes you just gotta hold on
Am I the only one?

Sometimes
Sometimes
