

Yanzhong Huang, Ph.D.

Curriculum Vitae

Currently, Assistant Professor and founding Director of the Center for Global Health Studies at the John C. Whitehead School of Diplomacy and International Relations, Seton Hall University.

He built the first academic concentration among the U.S. schools of international affairs that explicitly addresses the foreign policy and security aspects of health issues.

He is also the founding editor of Global Health Governance, a peer-reviewed online journal for the new health security paradigm. He has written extensively on global health governance, health security, and health politics in China.

He has testified before Congressional Committees and is frequently consulted by major media outlets, pharmaceutical firms, governmental and non-government organizations on global health issues.

He has also delivered numerous speeches at the invitation of think-tanks, universities, civic groups and policy organizations. He was a visiting fellow at the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) in Washington, DC.

He is a Term Member of the Council on Foreign Relations, a member of the National Committee on US-China Relations, and an Associate Fellow of the Asia Society.

He received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.
