Making Effective Coating Decisions

Presented by Darrell Wagoner
Western Regional Manager, The Trenton Corporation

This presentation will be a look at the effects of corrosion on various industries both in the private sector and government, including the Department of Defense. We evaluate different conditions and different applications based upon ease of use, effective life of the coating, materials of composition, and environmental conditions as well as other factors.

Darrell Wagoner has over 20 years of successful experience in technical sales and marketing. Much of that time has been devoted to the management and treatment of air and water to meet environmental discharge limits. Key customers have been Fortune 500 companies and municipalities from Texas to Canada. His professional experience includes Senior Sales Engineer at VWR Scientific and Betz Energy Chemicals, Western Regional Product Development & Sales for G.E. Water & Process Technologies, General Manager/Sales Engineer at Northstar Energy, Ltd., and Western Regional Manager, The Trenton Corporation. His expertise is in water treatment, corrosion inhibition, biocides, project EIR (Environmental Impact Report) preparation and permitting activities. Darrell is a member of NACE, AWWA, Western States Petroleum Association, American Petroleum Institute, U.S. Green Building Council, and Santa Barbara Built Green Foundation, and The Sierra Club. His current employer, The Trenton Corporation, is an ISO9001-2008 certified provider of anticorrosion products; specifically wax tapes, mastics, and outerwraps.
