Welcome speech

— from the President of CLANSW Maria Xu

Distinguished Guests, Keynote Speakers, Presenters, Teachers and Sponsors:

On behalf of the Chinese Language Teachers' Association of NSW, I wish to welcome you all here to the 2019 CLANSW Annual Conference.

CLANSW has been supporting Chinese language teachers throughout New South Wales since 1996. We are managed by teacher volunteers who are devoted to promoting quality Chinese language education in NSW schools. Currently we have about 200 members and the number is still growing. Our mission is to promote Chinese language and cultural education across all levels; to provide a platform for Chinese teachers to share and exchange teaching experience, ideas and information; and to provide the best learning opportunities for our students so they may enhance their understanding of Chinese Culture as well as maximise their learning outcomes.

Here are our achievements in 2018:

Services provided for teachers: CLANSW increased the number of NESA accredited courses for teachers

- In order to help our teachers understand and gain a general overview of the new Chinese K-10 syllabus, two familiarisation workshops were run in May and July with 185 participants
- About 60 teachers voluntarily participated in sample program writing projects across NSW. These valuable programs will be uploaded to the CLANSW website.
- Four PD workshops on the newly prescribed texts for HSC Chinese and Literature courses, attracted 71 teachers.
- A PD workshop for HSC Chinese in Context, focusing on syllabus and new assessment requirements attracted 35 teachers.
- A PD workshop was organised for HSC Chinese Beginners, Chinese Continuers, Chinese Extension and Chinese in Context focused on Speaking Skills. This attracted 51 teachers who are teaching these courses.
- Throughout the year, CLANSW continued to provide high standard HSC Trial Papers for all the HSC Chinese courses to the benefit of schools in NSW, Western Australia and Singapore

Services provided for students: CLANSW strived to provide the best opportunities to maximise our students' learning

- 3 HSC Study Skills Days focused on enhancing students' and teachers' understanding of the syllabus and assessment requirements. This event attracted 733 students.
- In order to improve students' abilities in public speaking and critical thinking, the second Chinese Debating Championship for high school students was hosted in partnership with

- CLTANSW and the Australian Chinese Debating Association. 26 schools and 287 students participated in this tournament.
- CLTANSW continued as a co-host for the China Bridge Competition for high school Chinese learners to showcase their talents and their knowledge of the Chinese language and culture. 23 students across 13 schools participated.
- In order to improve students' abilities in public speaking and creativity, a "Poetry in Voice" Recitation competition for students from K-12 was run in partnership with Sydney Recitation Art group, and around 300 students participated.
- One of the biggest events we organised was the 5th Sydney Chinese Language Spectacular, which was jointly organised by CLTANSW and the Confucius Institute at UNSW. This annual performance showcased the talents of Chinese language students across 34 schools in NSW and more than 800 students participated in the performance.
- On top of all of these, a "Poetry in Voice Chinese New Year Celebration 2019" event was co-hosted by CLTANSW and Sydney Recitation Art Group. About 80 students and teachers participated in the performance.

CLTANSW will continue to strive to deliver the very best quality language and cultural education, with the aim of continuing to support our teachers to improve student outcomes in the years ahead.

Among many other valuable sessions, this conference is an extended PD workshop on the new syllabus and it is expected that the training conference will be a good opportunity for the attendees to get a better understanding of how to implement the new syllabus in their schools in 2019.

Last but not least, thank you to all the Chinese teachers attending this conference, as your effort and hard work will continue to make Chinese Education in NSW blossom!

Thank you!

(2018 Sydney Chinese Language Spectacular )

Keynote Speaker One (12th April 2019)

Name: Erica McWilliam

Email:
e.mcwilliam@qut.edu.au

Adjunct Professor, Faculty of Education, QUT

Topic: Language Teaching in the 'Low Threat, High Challenge' Australian Classroom

Personal profile:

Erica McWilliam (Adjunct Professor, Faculty of Education, QUT) is an internationally recognised scholar in the field of pedagogy with a particular focus how educators prepare young people, to be future ready and future capable. In her numerous publications and presentations, she elaborates on the challenges faced by all those who are seeking to ensure that our young people will live, learn and earn well in this demanding century. In particular, she stresses the importance of 'low threat, high challenge' learning environments that assist young people to welcome error and the instructive complications of unfamiliarity and complexity. Among her sole-authored books are "Pedagogical Pleasures", "Creative Workforce" and "Educating Girls". Erica is a Fellow of the Australian Council of Education, an Honorary Fellow of the Australia Council of Educational Leadership and an Associate Fellow of the Learning and Teaching Council of Australia.

Abstract:

Erica McWilliam will draw on empirical research she has conducted with Peter Taylor in Australian classrooms to exemplify and discuss how effective language teachers establish a low threat, high challenge learning culture in their classrooms from day one of the schooling year. In particular, she will emphasise the importance of establishing routines for student learning engagement, noting some of the diverse ways that teachers go about planning for this task.

Keynote Speaker Two (13th April 2019)

Name: Dr Hui Ling Xu

Topic: Effective approaches for quality teaching of Chinese

Email: huiling.xu@mq.edu.au

Senior lecturer of Chinese Studies at Macquarie University

Personal profile:

Dr Hui Ling Xu is a senior lecturer of Chinese Studies at Macquarie University. Her academic backgrounds are in English language and literature, education, second language acquisition, and Chinese linguistics. Her experience of teaching Chinese as a foreign language expands over two decades. Her research interests include teaching Chinese as a foreign /heritage language, learner motivation, intercultural learning and teaching, teaching methodology and application of technology. In recent years, she has published widely in all of these areas, including two co-authored books entitled Exploring innovative pedagogy in the teaching and learning of Chinese as a foreign language and Teaching and learning Chinese in schools.

Abstract:

Despite the worldwide growth in Chinese language education, especially school based Chinese language education, there is little research on classroom teaching practice and teacher practical experience for teacher professional learning. This talk first addresses the quality teaching indicators against the background of challenges posed by Chinese language learning and teaching in the Australia context. We then present our research, in the form of case studies, to show case examples of quality teaching with the aim of impact a broad circle of influence in teaching practice. We profile the use of new classroom models, task-based learning, consideration of intercultural learning, and the use of new digital language learning technologies. From the profiled teachers' practice, we see evidence of a new and diversified community of practice for teachers of Chinese, which accepts and values diversity in practice and in teacher beliefs. Building a sense of belonging and inclusion in a diverse teacher community, where different solutions for different contexts are found and shared, according to different teacher capacities, is an important element of respectful future professional development.

Keynote Speaker Three (13th April 2019)

Name: Merryl Wahlin

Topic: A new K-10 Chinese syllabus- What an opportunity!

Email:
mwahlin@aisnsw.edu.au

Languages Consultant, Association of Independent Schools, NSW

Personal profile:

Merryl Wahlin (BA (Asian Studies), Dip Ed) is employed by the Association of Independent Schools of NSW as a Languages Consultant (K-12), providing support to schools to implement their Languages programs and delivering Professional learning courses. She has been Head of Languages in a K-12 school and has taught Indonesian and Japanese in both Primary and High schools. Merryl is a former President of the MLTANSW and has represented the NSW language teaching community at both state and national forums. Merryl is a strong and active advocate for the strengthening and growth of languages education in NSW schools.

Abstract:

Programming is what and how we teach, and it is crucial to the successful teaching of Languages and the sustainability of Languages programs. Developing a Languages program provides us with an opportunity to make choices about what we want our students to be able to say and do in Chinese, to reflect on prior teaching and consider what has worked and what hasn't and make changes, and to ensure that all students progress in Chinese.

In this presentation I will look at the key features of the new K-10 Chinese syllabus, what is similar to our current syllabus, what is different, and what do we have to teach. I will explore a programming approach that focusses on clear goals, aligns with the syllabus outcomes and enables differentiation.
