CORRUGATED PLASTIC APPLICATIONS

NW Packaging manufactures several types of corrugated plastic boxes, designed with specific industries in mind. These are all light weight, sturdy, moisture resistant, and can feature custom printing upon request.

Corrugated plastic is ideal for advertising specialty products and signage, providing a unique look while capitalizing on the advantages of light weight and wet - strength. It is an innovative substitute for traditional materials for binders, portfolios, and point-of-purchase displays.

Take advantage of the many existing sizes of cutting dies available for specialty products, or let us custom design something to specifically meet your requirements.
