

2025 PGA Tour Golf Pool

This is a 24-tournament, season-long pool. Rules:

- $180 entry for the season.
- There are 24 tournaments selected for the 2025 PGA Tour golf season.
- You pick one golfer for that tournament by Wednesday night before the tournament starts. You cannot pick that golfer again for the rest of the year. If a golfer gets sick or has an emergency last minute, an exception will be made to pick a replacement Thursday morning.
- HOW IT WORKS: You get your golfer's under or over par score for that tournament. If your golfer misses the cut, you get 10 strokes more than the last place finisher who made the cut.
- FOR EXAMPLE: 2024 Farmers Insurance Open: Snedeker finished tied for 78th with a +6 score. If you picked a golfer in this tournament who missed the cut, you would get +16.
- There are a few tournaments this year with no cut. You will get the score of whatever he shoots for the 4 rounds.
- These scores will accumulate throughout the season. Lowest totals at the end will win the overall prizes.
- WEEKLY BONUS: If your golfer finishes the highest among all of the picks for that week, you win or share in a weekly prize amount of $100
- SURVIVOR: There is a prize to the player whose picks never miss the cut. If more than one player is left standing, they split. If all are knocked out before the 22nd week(last tournament of cuts), those left at the last week will replay the Survivor in the next week. They cannot pick the same golfer or any previous golfers. If all survivors get knocked out on the 22nd week, those who were left the last week will split the Survivor pot. $500 to the winner. NOTE: There are multiple tournaments this year with no cut. The 18 tourney's with cuts are the ones that will be used. SEE THE SCHEDULE FOR THE LIST OF TOURNAMENTS.
- SIX IN-SEASON WINNERS: Best score in tournaments 1-4, 5-8, 9-12, 13-16, 17-20, 21-24: $300 each.
- LOW ROUND BONUS: If your golfer shoots the lowest round of the week in the tournament vs the other players picked (not the entire field) and is not tied, you win $50. However, if you and others pick the same golfer that week and he has the lowest round in the tourney amongst the golfers picked, you split. Ties to other golfers picked will constitute a rollover to the next week!
- 2 weekly rollover pools:
 - HOLE IN ONE POOL: If your selected golfer for that week makes a hole in one during the competition rounds (not practice rounds) you win the pot for whatever it is worth that week. It starts at $110 in week one ($70 rolled over from last year) and adds $40 each week until won. If no winners after the 24th tourney, it rolls over to the next year.
 - EAGLE POOL: If your selected golfer has more eagles (double-eagles count as 2) for the entire tournament than any other selected golfer, you win the pot for that week (if nobody else picked the same golfer). If your golfer ties another (with the same golfer) or others the same week, it's a one-tie all-tie and the pot rolls over to the next week. Basically, a unique pick with the most eagles not tied for the week, wins the pot. $40 is added each week to this pot. If there is a tie at the end of the last tournament of the year, the TOTAL amount of eagles accumulated by all of your selected golfers throughout the season will determine the winner(s) of the Eagle Pool. Everyone is eligible for this pot if there is no clear winner in week 24.
