"Welcoming 'Guests'"

Today, we see examples of age-old values: service, stewardship, contemplation - all of which are key components of "hospitality." Abraham drops everything and welcomes three strangers into his home, while his wife Sarah is unexpectedly forced to prepare an elaborate meal for them. Mary of Bethany sits at the feet of the Lord, clinging to His every word. Her sister Martha occupies her time with the business "playing the perfect hostess" with a little resentment thrown in for good measure.

Hospitality - making others feel welcomed and at home - is a gift freely given. But it is much more than simply being "hospitable." Hospitality is being present to the moment, being present to one another in ways that go beyond mere service.

Listening and service go hand in hand, and we need to make the time to communicate with each other – listening, recognizing, and appreciating one another. Like Abraham and Sarah, we are called to act graciously towards the many strangers that may cross our paths. And as we discover in the Gospel, we are a Mary/Martha community. Balanced alongside the constant busy-ness of Martha is Mary's need for being still and listening.

Our challenge is to see how these integral parts of the Christian life complement each other.
