

Troubled Waters or Unexpected Turn?

“...Stop doubting and believe” (John 20:26).

I feel strongly to encourage you today to be aware of the direction your heart is leaning concerning what you believe? What do you really believe? Are you trusting Him or not? You have got to shake off that which has brought those thoughts or feelings of doubt to you.

Friend- you must refuse to give in to the frustration that has come as a result of dealing with hindrances. It is a time for you to press again and believe Him. As you do this, you will overcome against the giants that are occupying your now and your future.

Today you can see the shining light of His word as it takes root within your spirit. The first place to start is admitting where you are and allowing Him to help you. God knows your thoughts and He knows what has spoken to you in the past. He knows when you are teetering with doubt and unbelief because of life has taken unexpected turns.

These days are critical. You have to get back to where you believe that all this is working together for your good in order to know where you are going. Life is changing. Yes, it is uncomfortable because it is unpredictable, but you must make the choice to stand strong. You must make the choice to believe again. As you take that step, you will burn brighter with each step you take.

Throw off the weariness. Throw off the doubt. Throw off fear. Cling to the truth. Believe the victory even before you can see it. Get back to trusting Him. “...Stop doubting and believe” (John 20:26).
