THE ARTS IN DOWNTOWN ZANESVILLE

Due to the Covid Crisis, ArtCoZ has decided not sponsor the April ArtCoZ First Friday Art Walk, but will be hosting a Virtual Art Walk that will be on the ArtCoZ Facebook page April 2, 5-9pm. Group gatherings are not recommended at this time. It is still up to individual studios if they decide to be open. We are still going to print the ArtCoZ Newsletters, with focus on what individual art studios are working on, current sales and hours of operations.

Musician of the month

Stoey Stout

Stoey Stout has been a musician since his mother trained him to sing songs at 5 years old while she played the piano. “I still remember some of those songs,” he says, “and I thank my mother for the gift of music.” As a youth he had 12 years of piano lessons, participated in high school and civic choirs, band and orchestra. He says music was always and important part of life, but things took a turn in 2012 when he found a Native American Flute at the Backwoods Fest. “My family had an oral tradition of Native American heritage and I was always interested in things Native American, so I picked up the flute and started to play. The haunting sound captured me right away and the flute made me sound really great. I bought two in different keys” Stout says. That started a journey into the musical sphere of world instruments. He now plays a variety of Native flutes, djembe drums, singing bowls, tongue drums, cabasa, didgeridoo, and a dozen other things you have never heard of. “It is simply fun,” says stout.

“OK, true confession time,” says Stout with a smile, “I “play at” most of these instruments, but with something as obscure as the didgeridoo, for example, it’s fun to say I’m the best didgeridoo player in Zanesville (he says laughing).” Within a couple of years of buying his flutes, Stout decided to create a musical CD with the flute and other instruments. He entitled it ‘O Venus Venitus’. It is dedicated to his Mayan roots and this is what will be playing on the ARTCOZ page First Friday.

“Music is a team sport,” says Stout, “I almost never play alone and there are a lot of artist who deserve to be artist of the month much more than me. But thanks to the Artist Colony for starting this monthly highlight of local musicians!” You can catch Stout live with Mark Snider on Friday, April 23 at Urban Comforts.

Artist of the month

Tasha Null

I loved drawing from the time was a toddler, and I had always been known as the "class artist" throughout my school years! I would draw on every scrap of paper I could get my hands on as a kid. I won several awards for my work in high school and after I graduated I continued to hone my skills, focusing heavily on pencil works.

My love of drawing continued through the years, and then 5 years ago I picked up my first watercolor set, and the rest is history!

The ZAAP Gallery at 625 Main Street reopens First Friday in April! We invite you to share our excitement! The gallery is featuring the art of Wade Stratton of Greenfield in April. Meet Wade and learn about his beautiful drawings. Wade offers lessons, workshops, and commissioned pieces. Follow him on Facebook at <https://www.facebook.com/AvecAmourbyWadeStratton>. Our ZAAP members will also be showing new pieces painted during the year of COVID.

We are preparing for our 2021 Beautification Project for downtown and the Y-Bridge. We plant 164 planters in downtown, the City Hall landscape and 17 baskets on the Y-Bridge. We could not do this without our community's support. Anyone interested in sponsoring a planter from May through mid-October at $125, may call 740-704-3166. Next month, we will have application for our "Yard Make-Overs". This entails 10 or more volunteers coming to your yard, working for 2 hours, at $300. This has been very popular the past 2 years. Recipients will be amazed by what we accomplish.
