As a tribute to mothers both past and present, these well-known personalities share their thought-provoking wisdom on the topic of motherhood.

If love is like a sweet little flower, then my mother is that sweet little flower in my life. I learned so much from her. She was my greatest teacher who taught me compassion, love, and fearlessness and she also taught and encouraged me to follow my dreams.

Stevie Wonder

She raised me and made me understand that not everything is going to be okay. There will be hard times, but you should never give up.

Liza Minnelli

My mother is everything to me; my roots, my foundation, my inspiration. It's the seed she planted years ago that built my life. She made me believe in achieving the stars, and I could do it because of her. Michael Jordan

Whenever someone asks me to describe my mother, I describe her as a hurricane with full power, or a rainbow with falling colors, or the strength it takes to climb a mountain.

Maya Angelou

I find the most comfort when I'm in my mother's arms. Being in those arms is the most comforting thing I can think of.

Princess Diana

With time everything melts away. With time youth fades away. The leaves of friendship fall and love droops, but a mother's prayers and pure love never leave you. It stays within you forever. Oliver Wendell Holmes

My mom is like a shelter to me. Whenever I am not feeling good, or I am in trouble, I hurry to her.

Emily Dickinson

All that I am today or ever will be, I owe to my mother. I love her and I have no idea what I would have done without her. My mother always prayed for me and those prayers followed me everywhere.

Abraham Lincoln

When I became a mother, I understood the purity of the love of a mother. I know every mom out there understands what I am talking about. I had never felt like this before. I never realized that there could be such unconditional love that is so pure. Jennifer Lopez
