Why Hospice Care?

Decisions about hospice care can be difficult. They are personal and important, best made by the patient and family, with cooperation from the physician. Hospice of Havasu provides compassionate comfort care to people with a life-limiting illness and their families. These services are available to patients of any age, religion or race. Professionals work with patients and families to address physical, mental, emotional and spiritual needs. The Hospice of Havasu philosophy is a belief that each of us has the right to die with dignity, and that our families will receive the necessary support to allow us to do so. The focus is on caring, not curing. Since 1982, Hospice of Havasu has operated on the premise that each individual should be helped to make the most of the time left. To accomplish that we provide the patient and family with a team of physicians, nurses, social workers, chaplains, certified nurse assistants, pharmacists, bereavement staff and volunteers who are trained in end-of-life care. We also support the caregiver, who provides for the patient's day-to-day needs. That is usually a family member or significant other. If a primary caregiver is not available, the social worker and nurses will help to make other arrangements. Hospice of Havasu also believes that each patient and family is unique. Our goal is to help individuals live as fully as possible, to allow them to retain control over their health care decisions and to preserve their dignity. Medicare provides a full Hospice Benefit, and some private insurance plans have a hospice benefit as well. But, since our founding, we have never denied services to anyone because of their financial situation.
