

Freedom of Speech

Individuals appeal to their right of free speech to be able to say what they wish, when they wish, to whomever they wish. Even if such were true, just because a person has a right to do something, doesn't mean it is the right thing to do. The apostle Paul said, "Let no corrupt speech proceed out of your mouth, but such as is good for edifying as the need may be, that it may give grace to them that hear" (Ephesians 4:29). What part of profanity would fall under the category of "good" or "edifying"? ret
