

Shelter book sales top $3,000

Thanks to the folks of Randolph County, the Randolph County Animal Shelter raised $3,064 over the two weekends of the semiannual book sale. It was a fun-filled day each Saturday.

Carl and Mary Ann

Engstrom, two great volunteers, alphabetized hundreds and hundreds of books by author, making it easy for avid readers to find their favorite authors and purchase many books.

The shelter board of directors thanks the many volunteers who worked so many days shelving all the books and working both Saturdays.

Judy Salas from Roanoke donated her handmade jewelry, which sold very quickly.

The next sale will be in June the day of the Summer on Main festival.
