
Pigeon Fox Rancher Dies from Illness

960 PIGEON — William Stiegman, 78, died Wednesday at St. Mary's hospital, Saginaw, after an illness of several months.

Born Nov. 5, 1881, in McKinley township, Huron county, he was married April 17, 1911, in McKinley township, to Emma Stienman.

He owned and operated a fox ranch for 27 years and was the founder of the Pigeon Livestock Assn. of which he served as secretary-treasurer for 12 years.

Surviving besides his wife is a sister, Mrs. Anna Wilfong, British Columbia.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Shetler funeral chapel with the Rev. Leland Penzien, former pastor of the Bay Port Methodist church, and the Rev. Richard Turner, present pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Caseville cemetery.
