

There are certain bible stories that we as Christians tend to gravitate towards because, for one reason or another, they speak to our hearts. The story of David and Goliath, the underdog story, is an example. It is one that almost everyone knows and takes something from. For me one of those stories I come back to time and time again is the story of the Hebrew midwives, Shiphrah and Puah, found in the first chapter of Exodus. I know it's kind of a niche story, but it is one of my favorites. The main parts of the story are that the Israelite nation is being used as slave labor in Egypt. Pharaoh is concerned the Israelites are going to try to rebel so he starts working them hard and hard and then comes up with this plan to have every male baby killed so that the nation will not have young man to rebel. To execute this plan Pharaoh brings in two Hebrew midwives and orders them to kill the male babies. The midwives do not do what pharaoh ordered and their subtle act of defiance, and lying to pharaoh, saves many Hebrew baby boys from genocide. I'm sure I have spoken about this passage before, how these two Hebrew midwives, these lowly people, stand up to power by standing up to Pharaoh. I may have told you how interesting it is that the bible chooses to share the names of these women who are in this lowly servant role while Pharaoh and Pharaoh's daughter later in the story remain unnamed. A pleasant reminder of who God sees as important. I just find it to be such a valuable lesson that two women, in a male dominate world, were able to change the world through their actions. For it is through their actions that Hebrew boys, like Moses, were able to be born and survive. Without them, Moses would not have survived, and never would have been able to come back to free God's people. Shiphrah and Puah were not wealthy people. They didn't command armies or demand respect. They were servants. They were insignificant in the workings of the world. Their lives, on the whole scheme of things, didn't seem to matter all that much. And yet their actions, led to the salvation of the entire nation of Israel, their small act, to do what was right in a moment, for a day, for a week; had such a lasting effect their names are now read by millions of people every single year.

The name Shiphrah in Hebrew means beauty or harmony, it draws on the concept of fairness. Meanwhile the Hebrew name Puah means radiant, beautiful, bright. What fitting names for beautiful women who did beautiful things. Their actions are a true bright spot in the life of the Israelites. A life defined by harsh labor and abuse. Yet we find in this story, beauty, this beautiful moment, this bright spot, even in the midst of such atrocity as the forced labor and enslavement of the nation of Israel.

Not that our lives are the same as the enslaved nation of Israel, but we certainly experience pain, hardships, trials, and struggles. Sometimes we look at the world and we might start thinking things are hopeless. I'm sure when these Hebrew midwives were told to kill every male baby that was born things seemed pretty dark and scary. In our world there is an ongoing government shut down, there is hunger, there is homelessness, there is violence, there is sickness and death, there is division within communities and even families. There are a million things that pile on to make the world seem like a lonely, dark, and gloomy place. But this passage reminds us of God's presence and how God can do amazing things out of single acts of kindness. And so, in the spirit of Shiphrah and Puah, in the spirit of all that is beautiful and bright, I encourage you to be a bright spot in another person's life today. Give an extra smile, hold a door for another person, be generous, be kind, be helpful. Be the moment in another person life that is beautiful, bring light into their darkness.

The scripture tells us how Jesus is the light of all people. And how the light shines in the darkness, and the darkness could not overcome it. (John 1:5) We have that same light of Christ at our disposal. The light shines in and through us. We teach our children the song "This Little Light of Mine" for this exact reason. And though we sometimes feel like our light won't make a difference in the world, the truth is it will. We never know what impact our light will have. Maybe it will light another's path, maybe it will lead another home, but either way the darkness cannot overcome the light. Friends, I encourage you to be bright and beautiful and to let the light of Christ shine in you richly this day. Blessings,
Pastor Brian

We will recognize All Saints Sunday on November 2.

God of peace, We pray for those who have served our nation and have laid down their lives to protect and defend our freedom.

We pray for those who have fought, whose spirits and bodies are scarred by war, whose nights are haunted by memories too painful for the light of day.

We pray for those who serve us now, especially for those in harm's way. Shield them from danger and bring them home. Turn the hearts and minds of our leaders and our enemies to the work of justice and a harvest of peace.

May the peace you left us, the peace you gave us, be the peace that sustains, the peace that saves us. Christ Jesus, hear us! Lord Jesus, hear our prayer! Amen.

Handbells and Choir

"We are looking for volunteers to play handbells along with the church choir for the 7:00pm Christmas Eve service — no experience needed! It's a great way to be part of our music ministry and help make worship special.

In addition, we welcome anyone who would like to join the choir for the Advent and Christmas season. We'll be singing "The Hope of Your Coming" every Sunday of Advent starting November 30th, and "In Bethlehem" at the 7:00pm Christmas Eve service. Even if you can't make every Sunday — or if you're new to choir — we would still love to have you join us!

If you're interested in ringing or singing, please reach out to me (Elizabeth Hixon) at hixonec@icloud.com or see me after any church service!"
