

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, we began a humanitarian program called SWJC Building Bridges - Feeding Heroes and Neighbors in Need.

This program continues to make an impact. We have provided 4,200 meals since April. These healthy, nutritious meals bring hope, comfort, and are a delicious way to let people know they are not forgotten.

We are bringing meals to our Heroes – Healthcare, Police and Fire personnel all over the DFW area, plus we have fed Neighbors in Need.

We have delivered meals throughout the DFW area - Dallas, Richardson, Plano, The Colony, Prosper, Fort Worth, Denton, Carrollton, Rowlett, Lewisville, Princeton, Frisco Duncanville, Cedar Hill and the VA Hospitals in Dallas and Garland.

We have fed Neighbors in need at Pucde Network Center, Bonton Farms, Austin Street Shelter, Agape Center, Ronald McDonald House of Dallas and Jewish Family Service, as well as a safe house for sexually abused women - just to name a few.

We are grateful to our Partners NAI Robert Lynn Retail, Kahn Mechanical, Joe Funk Construction and the Rotary Club of Dallas whose financial support has enabled us to continue this Feeding Heroes/Feeding Neighbors program.

Please help us meet our goal to feed 10,000 people. Donations are tax-deductible to the extent allowed by law. EVERY DOLLAR contributed to this meaningful effort is used to provide meals. SWJC pays all administrative costs of the program.

$50 feeds 5, $100 feeds 10, $500 provides 50 meals and so on. If your business or organization would like to Partner with us and have your logo added to our marketing materials, including the sticker on each individual meal - please email us at feedingheroes@swjc.org. Partners may join us for a donation of $2,000. Please visit our website: www.swjc.org for all locations served and more information.

Southwest Jewish Congress (SWJC) is an 11-year-old membership organization, open to all, that welcomes diversity and builds bridges throughout our community. We have expanded our outreach by joining with other non-profits and universities to provide educational programs free and open to the community. Our Texas Sized Event recognizes women, men, and young adults who have been diligent in the pursuit of positive social change. In the last 2 years, SWJC Building Bridges Grant Initiative has presented $28,000 in grants to other local non-profit organizations in the DFW area.
