INSIGHTS FROM THE ROAD

APRIL 2019

CANADIAN CONSUMER DEBT ON THE RISE

Last month, Equifax Canada reported that consumer delinquencies climbed higher in the fourth quarter of 2018 and the credit monitoring company warned that rising delinquency rates are likely to become the norm this year.

It said the 90-day mortgage delinquency rate rose by 1.5 per cent from the fourth quarter of 2017 to 0.18 per cent at the end of last year. The comparable non-mortgage rate was up 0.4 per cent to 1.07 per cent. While mortgages do not directly impact our business offering, their delinquency rates are indicative of consumers' debt and their ability to manage vehicle payments.

Please know, that when your customers are unable to make their payments on their vehicles beyond your corporate tolerance level, we are here to quickly and efficiently get your property back.
