

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

01 of 13

Paul was at AFVN when I got there in August 1970. Later on he went to the Chu Lai Detachment to supervise the closing down of that detachment. I had a room in the Plaza with twin beds, one of which was intentionally left empty so I could host senior NCOs visiting Saigon from one or another of the detachments. Paul bunked with me several times when visiting from Chu Lai, then moved in permanently when he was assigned back to the Saigon station in November 1970. In late January 1971, Paul was transferred to AFN. You can read more by going to the MACOI site shown below. I recall hearing that after he and his wife settled down in Germany, he became rather ill and then passed away while still fairly young.

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

02 of 13

Paul Van Dyke, SFC, AFVN Announcer
who bunked with me at the Plaza.

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

03 of 13

He had been thinking of giving a performance and was just waking up.

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

04 of 13

He wakes up with an idea!

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

05 of 13

"Need a little more fortification."

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

06 of 13

"There, I'm ready to go!"

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

07 of 13

Paul's friend and fellow AFVN
announcer SFC
Gary Lyon looks up.

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

08 of 13

Paul stresses one of his major points.

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

09 of 13

No one was sure
what the point
was at this point.

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

10 of 13

It appears that Garry might not know the point of that point either.

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

11 of 13

Paul's performance comes to a climax and he waits for the applause.

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

12 of 13

However, Garry is not sure if applause is due.

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

13 of 13

Finally, Garry gives his verdict.

An Evening with Garry Lyon and Paul Van Dyke

End

The End