How Your Insurance and Eye Exams Works (PLEASE READ AND SIGN THIS DOCUMENT)

In eye care, there are two types of insurances that can be used – vision insurance and medical insurance. Vision insurance will only allow us to conduct a routine exam to check to see whether you are nearsighted, farsighted, astigmatic and/or presbyopic. If you are scheduling a routine eye exam, we will only be checking for your need for glasses.

If you have any other symptoms such as seeing double, headaches, irritated eyes, dry eyes, red eyes, glaucoma, high blood pressure, diabetes, etc..., you will require different procedures and exams besides a routine eye exam. Consequently, if you are scheduling a routine eye exam, please do not ask the doctors about symptoms or problems that are not considered routine. For example, during a routine exam, the doctor will not be discussing or investigating why you are seeing black lines and dots. We can not check for that with a routine eye exam. Instead, please schedule the necessary procedures and exams with us to address those non-routine problems. Similarly, if you are scheduling an office visit to check for a non-routine concern, then we can not check for your need for glasses. Instead, please schedule with us a separate routine vision exam to check for prescription glasses.
