

Jean Dry, Frank's wife, passed away of 25th September just a month after Frank's passing, she was a couple of years older than Frank. She had suffered from breast cancer some years ago and it was in remission for several years but returned last year and spread to other parts of her body, including her brain, so I am afraid that in the last few weeks she was not aware of what was happening and that Frank had gone. A very kind and generous lady who will be sorely missed. President Fred.
