Dear Parents,

As National Catholic Schools Week comes to a close (tomorrow), I would like to take this opportunity to thank Most Reverend Bishop McManus, Dr. Perda, Superintendent of Schools, Fr. Sanders, Fr. Adam, faculty, staff, students, families and friends for an incredible week celebrating the four pillars of Catholic schools: Learn, Serve, Lead and Succeed. Throughout the week we have been able to celebrate our families, community, students, vocations, nation, and faculty and staff with such activities as Inspire Your Art Day, creating murals and displaying wonderful works of art in the Art Show, attending an Audubon presentation focused on good stewardship of our planet, creating inventions with recycled materials, and celebrating each other with Superlative Awards and gifts of appreciation. I would also like to acknowledge and express heartfelt thanks to Mrs. Tagg, our team of parent volunteer tour guides, and all our faculty and staff for three successful open houses and showing potential new families what makes All Saints Academy so very special. Thank you for giving your all every day – especially this week!

Today Bishop McManus joined the entire school for lunch, courtesy of faculty and staff, and afterwards celebrated Mass. He was most impressed by our students, as was Dr. Perda who was also invited to share in our day. The Bishop then invited us to recognize our Jr. Knights and Knights during the Mass. It was wonderful! Please join me in congratulating our January Jr. Knights and Knights of the month: Ayrianna Botelho and John Campbell in Preschool, Fiona Radcliffe and Sophia Nolle in Kindergarten, Finola Castiglione in first grade, Ella Campbell in second grade, Kamryn Fasshauer in third grade, Robert Hastings in fourth grade, Brianna Brink in fifth grade, McKenzie Duffy in sixth grade, Greyson Baldaro in seventh grade, and Rayliana Bonnell in eighth grade. We are all very proud of you!

The Bishop, as is tradition when he visits a school, awarded ASA with a day off from school. After speaking with faculty and staff, we have decided to make that special day Friday, May 24. This will allow everyone to have an extra-long and special Memorial Day weekend. Please mark your calendars now!

Lastly, there will be a dress down day on Monday as we celebrate the Patriots – win or lose – they are in the Super Bowl after all! Please wear your Patriots gear or red, white, and blue clothing to honor our team.

Have a wonderful weekend. Go Pats!

Yours in Christ,

Joan E. Matys
