Part One - The Full Story

"Personality is not only what makes us interesting, but also that which influences almost every aspect of our lives and prospects in our careers and relationships in our business and private lives. You have to have the qualification or attributes to take on a job or find the right partner, but it will be your personality which counts most in how your career or relationship develop. In other words: Our personality is how we distinguish ourselves, and it can get us further romantically and can get us further professionally, or visa-versa. But personality can't be faked over time- nor does it fade away or change over time. Positive traits can be developed, but basic personality types remain the same- hence the prime importance for people on a route to self-discovery to understand their Personalities intimately, as though it were a Blueprint for their future. Understanding our Personality Types and Personality Management thereof is crucial to preparing for the next stages in the journey to Self-Discovery."

Part Two - Personality Test

"Whether you are a Reformer- striving to be objective; a Helper being altruistic; an Achiever being hopeful; an Individualist being creative; an Investigator being wise; a Loyalist being faithful; an Enthusiast being joyous; a Challenger being decisive; or a Peacemaker being as patient as he/she can be – we can't all be perfect. The healthiest characteristics of our personalities will only become properly understood by ourselves as we work on our selfdiscovery and proactive personality management. The more aware we are and the more we avail ourselves of presence, the more essence supports the healthy manifestations of our personalities. Supporting the healthy manifestations of our personalities is surely worthwhile. Different Personality Types can be inspired to find their Destiny by understanding a wide range of Drivers. It is important to understand how we power our lives, and what our Destiny Drivers are. The choices we make are what matters, not the reasons. And depending on our Personality Types and traits, the decision process may be driven predominately by our 'Gut, Heart or Head'. There are dominant 'Instinctive, Feeling or Thinking' attributes to each Personality Type."

Part Three - Character Analysis

"Despite its paramount importance for us all in our personal and business lives, in many ways 'Personality' is just the wrapping. 'Character' is the chocolate coating and 'Spirituality' is its soft centre. You might employ, date, or just be attracted to someone, or otherwise, based on their personality. But in the end, it will always be that person's true character which will influence your overall assessment and judgement in the long run. A person of character puts principles above personal self and personality. Feeling that there is something greater than oneself is the 'Essence' of 'Spirituality'. The value chain is therefore - personality and relationships; character and values; and essence and life purpose.

Character represents your learned behaviour, and your deeply held ethics and morals. Personality can be subjective in the analysis, but character is objective. Removing some of the subjectivity in your understanding about your own personality is therefore an important early stage in the search for true Purpose and Destiny. Honesty for example is not a personality trait, it is character based. You need to be honest with yourself in the analysis which follows in this book, failure to do so will render the analysis worthless. Character, unlike Personality, includes qualities, rather than traits, such as - Loyalty and Honesty; Leadership; Trust and Respect; Courage; Patience and Understanding. You can enforce 'Honesty' using the penal system, but you can't enforce 'Loyalty', it comes with character on both sides. 'Respect' is earned and engenders 'Trust'. These are qualities of Character, rather than Personality.

Following the money, a career path, following one's gut feel, following one's football team, following a TV soap opera, following something spiritual, following others- what is your own life raison d'être? In this busy 'just-get-on-with-it world', your 'Higher Purpose', if you have one, is invariably hidden away from all except yourself. It is far easier to conform to everyone else's mantra of material living, even if we do harbour a deeper meaning subconsciously written on our soul contracts but hold back from letting it take centre stage. People's higher purposes rarely become the over-arching forces in their lives, and most would not dwell on it, or even admit to having one. Then as they reflect on life on their death beds it's too late, and then they die. Those who do re-consider the higher purpose of their lives are invariably 'in search of lost time'? Tapping into a higher purpose can release a real flow and new rhythm of life. Sometimes allowing ourselves to let our minds wonder, drift away from the drudgery of reality a little, or think more spiritually - liberates us to a higher level, without the need for marijuana or meditation or yoga.

The 'Wisdom of the Ages' tells us a lot about who we are, and how we've evolved into who we are. Our ancestors turned to their tribal elders to gleam wisdom to guide their lives, later many creeds of people developed around the world who followed the written Scriptures of their new-found Faiths. These days Science and Technology and Social Media seem to provide the source, if not meaning of everything for some. The future we are told will be focused on Artificial Intelligence and Algorithms. Meanwhile global pandemics, environmental effects, political and economic cycles, actions of leaders of wisdom, tyrants, philanthropists, philosophers, and the legacies of business tycoons and new technologies will come and go.

Living in a bubble simply doesn't cut it and being in tune with all that is around us- not just spiritually but in terms of knowledge of global events and issues affecting our communitiesis a prerequisite to finding a deeper meaning in our own personal lives, however parochial.

Part Four - Skills, Goals & Desires

Your future Destiny is all about focusing on the positive characteristics in your personality and your life:

- Pursuing your natural Needs and Desires as a Personality and an Individual
- Pursuing your Holy Ideas and Ideals as a Personality and an Individual
- Maximising your Strengths and Virtues as a Personality and an Individual

The other reason is to "rise up" to the highest Levels of Development of your Personality (The Direction of Integration and Growth) increasing psychological health and balance- and most importantly avoiding inflation of the ego.

As we get more attuned with our inner strengths and passions, we get a sense of what really matters to us in the pursuit of our goals. Charting a course for ourselves is one thing but making sure our aspirations match our gifts, abilities, and skills, and that we are properly leveraging them to full effect, is the reality check we all need to do.

Life goals are what we want to achieve in the long run, and they're much more meaningful than just 'what we need to accomplish day by day to survive'. Unlike daily routines or short-term objectives, they drive our behaviours over the long run. There's no single psychological definition for them, and they aren't strictly a clinical construct, but they help us determine what we want to experience in terms of our values. And because they are personal ambitions, they can take many different forms. But they give us a sense of direction and make us accountable as we strive for happiness and well-being. Personal goals revolve around - Self-development; Professional success; Family life; Life as a whole.

Part Five - Destiny Choices

Imagine that your life is a treasure map, and the pot of gold represents what you are destined to experience. The choices you make along the way from here simply impact the route you take toward that pot of gold.

To 'Becoming Your Destiny' you will likely choose to pursue a new Direction and/or Vocation, that you consider represents what 'You would Love, are Good At, there is a Need For, and You can get Paid For (if that's what you seek)'. And pursue it with Passion and Conviction.

The Ikigai Model serves to help in your selection of a chosen Destiny. What it lacks as a tool is the sequence and route to your Destiny. The sequence should be to 1) Focus on identifying your Life Purpose 2) Focus on Personality Development to be the best person you can and most useful to society 3) Focus on Development of the Skills and Abilities you require to 4) Become your Chosen Destiny to pursue the Goals and Valuable Ideas which serve your Life Purpose. 'The Corrective Ikigai Model' highlights the Corrective Measures around the Ikigai to align your Destiny with Purpose Personality and Ability.
