

Venus = Diamond

“The diamond contains all the six tastes, cures every kind of disease, is good in indigestion, is a blessing, and brings robustness” – Mani Mala, Part II, 67. “The man who carefully keeps about him a sharp pointed, spotless and genuine diamond is blessed with life-long possession of riches, good fortune, sons, corn, kine and other beasts.” – Mani Mala, Part I, 102.

Diamond is the gemstone recommended for Venus. It increases artistic and creative abilities. It can also lead toward love and devotion in relationships and may also increase passion and sexual desires. Physically, it strengthens the reproductive system, and is said to aid in the treatment of chronic diseases.

White, or colorless, sapphire is a good substitute for diamond and may be used in the same manner. Major sources of diamonds are Africa (many countries there are producers), Australia, Russia, India, Indonesia, Venezuela, Brazil and Guyana. White sapphires are mostly found in Sri Lanka. Individuals should be careful of wearing a diamond or white sapphire that has any dark flaws or fractures. If a gem with such imperfections is worn, it will cause havoc in a person's life, rather than the beneficial influences being sought. Diamonds should weigh at least 1 carat, but 1.5 to 2 is better. White sapphire should be at least 2-3 carats.

Substitute Gems

White Sapphire, Clear Zircon, Turquoise or very clear Quartz
