

In spite of being born into a family of homebuilders, comedian Dave Dugan couldn't be less handy. Also not a good salesman or delegator, Dave admits, "I fell into comedy as a default. I had nowhere else to turn."

During summer while in high school, Dave worked on his Dad's construction jobs, shoveling pea gravel all day and it is here where he discovered that he was allergic-----to hard labor. Thankfully, his sense of humor led him down a different path.

These days, Dave customizes his unique brand of humor to best fit each event. In addition to being a corporate comedian in demand, Dave is an award-winning voice actor, you have likely heard him on countless national and regional TV and RADIO commercials and as a regular narrator of features for INDY CAR RACES AND NASCAR.

Seen on HBO, COMEDY CENTRAL and FOX and heard on SIRIUS XM RADIO, Dave is also a regular contributing comic on the nationally-syndicated BOB AND TOM SHOW where he's made close to 250 appearances.

But you probably know Dave best from his starring role in the ill-fated after-school special "BUCKY, THE OKAY DOG WITH JUST A LITTLE BIT OF RABIES."
